STATE POLITICS.

The American State Convention at Rochester.

Erastus Brooks Nominated for Governor by Acclamation.

For Lieutenant-Governor, Lyman Odell; For Canal Commissioner, A. H. Prescott.

ACCESSION OF THE NORTH AMERICAN BOLTERS

ROCHESTER, Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The American State Convention assembled in this city to-day. There was a very large number of Delegates present. The morning session was mostly occupied in the presentation of credentials.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention reassembled at 2 o'clock P. M., and was called to order by the President of the State Council, Mr. SAMPSON. Over 1,000 Delegates were present.

General SCHENCK, of Buffalo, moved that a Committee of one from each Congressional District be appointed to select permanent officers.

During the absence of the Committee, Attorney-General CUSHING, WM. G. CHADE, editor of the Mobile Advertiser; Hon. J. P. HOGANS, of Florida; and BURRELL WHITE, of Ohio, were admitted.

On motion, the Convention rose and gave three cheers each for Ohio, Alabama and Florida.

WM. G. CHADE was called on for a speech. He expressed the satisfaction he felt at being so cordially received by the Americans of the State of New-York, and pledged the electoral vote of Alabama for Mr. FILLMORE.

The Committee on Permanent Organization then reported the following officers:

FOR PRESIDENT:

J. W. BARKER, of New-York.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENTS:

1, Mr. Horsfield, of Queens; 2, Rosilla Graves, of Kings; 3, W. Stokely, of New-York; 4, Jeremiah T. Brooks, of New-York; 5, Geo. C. Preston, of Kings; 6, Jos. R. Nones, of New-York; 7, A. M. C. Smith, of New-York; 8, C. M. C. Nell, of New-York; 9, L. W. Caufield, of Rockland; 10, O. Whiston, of Sullivan; 11, E. Lounsbery, of Ulster; 12, Edgar Thorne, of Dutchess; 13, Sanchus, of Rensselaer; 14, Eli Berry, of Albany; 15, Elisha Cutler, of Saratoga; 16, Robert Kneland, of Clinton; 17, M. S. Benton, of Hamilton; 18, W. Clark, of Montgomery; 19, S. P. Chapman, of Delaware; 20, A. J. Williams, of Oneida; 21, E. G. Berry, of Chenango; 22, W. S. Leslie, of Oswego; 23, H. C. Chittenden, of Jefferson; 24, M. T. Sperry, of Onondaga; 25, M. Cooper, of Cayuga; 26, O. Case, of Ontario; 27, H. W. Jackson, of Schuyler; 28, B. F. Bailey, of Steuben; 29, L. B. Swan, of Monroe; 30, J. G. Russell, of Genesee; 31, T. Baker, of Niagara; 32, A. Hitchcock, of Erie; 33, F. H. Stanton, of Cattaraugus.

Messrs. LESLIE, of Oswego, and GRAY, of Orange, were chosen a Committee to conduct the President to the Chair.

Mr. BARKER, on taking the Chair, made a brief address, thanking the Convention for the honor done him, and referring to the gratifying increase in the Councils since the last State Convention, and declaring his conviction that the State was safe for FRANKLIN PIERCE and DOUGLAS.

At the close of his remarks a delegate moved that the Convention proceed to ballot for Governor.

WM. KENT moved that the nomination be made by acclamation.

The Convention immediately arose then, as one man, shouting: "ERASTUS BROOKS!" and for ten minutes a scene of the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. Hats flew all over the Hall, and the cheering from the inside was reechoed from the streets.

A call was made for those who were opposed to the nomination to rise. Not a man arose.

General SCHENCK made a brief speech, congratulating the Convention on its unanimity, and moved that the Convention proceed to an informal ballot for Lieutenant-Governor.

Motion carried.

Mr. MERRITT, of New-York, Mr. MURRAY, of Seneca, and Mr. JENKINS, of Albany, were appointed Tellers.

JESSE C. DANN, of Buffalo, LYMAN ODELL, of Livingston, and G. DENNISTON, of Steuben, were nominated as candidates.

On the first ballot Mr. ODELL received a majority of 46.

Gen. SCHENCK moved to make the nomination unanimous, and said that Mr. DANN had consented to allow his name to be used with great reluctance, and then not at the request of citizens of Buffalo, but of citizens of Jefferson County, with whom he formerly resided. No one would support LYMAN ODELL more earnestly than JESSE C. DANN.

The nomination of Mr. ODELL was then made unanimous, and three cheers given for him, and three more for Mr. DANN, and three more for GOODWIN DENNISTON.

The number of votes cast was 989.

The Convention then proceeded to ballot for Canal Commissioner; but the ballot resulted in no choice.

Mr. J. W. THOMPSON moved the adoption of a resolution extending the sympathy of the Convention to the North Americans, acknowledging their indictment of FILLMORE and DONELSON, and inviting them to join in support of the American ticket.

Before action was taken on the foregoing, a motion to go into another ballot prevailed.

A letter of acceptance from Mr. BROOKS was here read, and received with nine deafening cheers.

EVENING SESSION.

A. H. PRESCOTT was nominated for Canal Commissioner.

A resolution to appoint a Committee to wait on the North American Convention was adopted.

On their return they reported that they had been received with courtesy, and that a Committee of five from the North American Convention had been appointed to wait on this Convention.

A motion that they be received was adopted unanimously.

As the Committee of the North Americans entered the hall, the Convention rose and received them with loud cheers.

HORACE H. DAY, Esq., as Chairman of the North American Committee, said the duty devolved upon him to present to this Convention a resolution which had been unanimously adopted by the North Americans.

The resolution indorses FILLMORE and DONELSON and the State Ticket of the American Party, pledging that North Americans will support it.

Mr. DAY accompanied the resolution with eloquent remarks which were received with loud cheers.

G. EDWARDS LEAVITT then addressed the Convention, declaring that the North Americans now recognize FILLMORE and DONELSON as the first, last and only legitimate candidates of the American Party. They would take the first lightning train into the country and work for the entire ticket until after the election. Their address had been sent forth not to New-York alone but to every State in the Union, and would have the effect he hoped of preventing any more cowardly talk of sending the election into the House of Representatives.

The President addressed the Committee warmly, welcoming them in behalf of the Convention, and inviting them to seats on the platform.

The Convention then proceeded to ballot for State Prison Inspector, but without arriving at any result took a recess till 11½ o'clock.

The Convention of the North American Bolters.

ROCHESTER, Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The North Americans met at the Court-House this morning. Many new delegates were present. F. W. WHITTLESEY, of Oswego, was chosen President.

G. EDWARDS LEAVITT, from the committee appointed on Saturday, reported an address. It gives a history of the North American Party, and the formation of the National Council, which was composed of the Presidents of the State Councils, and the Presidents of the Philadelphia Convention. It asserts that the Philadelphia platform, on agreement, was made in Philadelphia by Mr. FILLMORE, if the North Americans would give Mr. BUCHANAN and James Buchanan.

It states that the present by party cry of the South has made the attempt to induce the North Americans to repudiate the Republicans or submit to the entire prostration of their principles and the overthrow of the party. It accuses a leader of the South Americans with seeking to betray and barter away the party at the recent Syracuse Convention, and concludes with recommending the present Convention to withdraw a coalition with their enemies and traitors with the Americans for the overthrow of their opponents.

The address was adopted.

The Convention then took a recess till the afternoon, and on reassembling a coalition was effected with the "regulars," as reported above.

Large American Mass Meeting at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, Tuesday, Sept. 23.

A large American mass meeting was held here this evening. From five to six thousand people were present. The greatest enthusiasm was manifested. A torchlight procession paraded the streets, accompanied with numerous bands of music, banners, transparencies, flags &c., the whole affair ending with a most magnificent display of fireworks in the public square.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE INDIAN AT QUEBEC.

COTTON FIRM—BREADSTUFFS LOWER.

Consols 94 3-4.

QUEBEC, Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The screw steamship Indian arrived at this port this morning.

Her dates from Liverpool are to the 10th inst., four days later than those received by the Asia at New-York.

The Cunard steamship Canada arrived at Liverpool at 1 P. M. on Saturday, the 6th inst.

The Indian left Liverpool at 8½ P. M. on the 10th inst. She brings 201 passengers and a full cargo.

The Anglo-Saxon, from Quebec, made the passage out in nine days and twenty-three hours.

The screw steamer Baltic, from New-York, arrived at Liverpool at 8 A. M. on the 8th inst., and the Anglo-Saxon, from Quebec, arrived at 6 o'clock on the evening of the 9th inst.

Politically there is no news of any special importance.

It is reported that France will permit its minister at Naples to withdraw for a time, and that England will not appoint a successor to the late Sir WILLIAM TEMPLE.

The news of the suppression of the insurrection in Naples is confirmed.

The Greek Government recently appointed a Governor of the Piræus, but the French Admiral has refused to recognize him.

The Prussian and Bavarian Ministers protest against it, but the British Minister supported the French.

The English fleet had returned from the Black Sea to the Bosphorus.

Correspondence from Russia describes the gorgeous ceremonies attending the coronation at Moscow.

La Nord publishes the Russian reply respecting the Isle of Serpents, from which it appears that Russia declares it cannot concede except to the joint Powers.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Liverpool Cotton Market.

The leading circulars quote the market firm, with sales during the three business days, subsequent to the departure of the Asia, of 25,000 bales, of which 3,000 were on speculation and 2,000 for export. Holders offered freely, but without showing any disposition to press sales, and the market closed steady at previous quotations.

Liverpool Breadstuffs Market.

The weather continued favorable for the harvest and the accounts from the agricultural districts were generally of a satisfactory character, causing a decline in Breadstuffs and restricting all speculative inquiry. FLOUR is quoted 1s.@2s. ₱ bbl. lower, with a dull market. Baltimore and Philadelphia, 34s.@35s.; Ohio 35s.@38s. WHEAT, 2d.@4d. ₱ bushel lower; old red, 8s.@9s. 6d.; new red, 9s.@9s. 3d.; old white, 8s. 9d.@9s. 3d.; new white, 10s.@10s. 3d. CORN, very dull at a decline of 1s. Yellow and mixed quoted at 31s.@31s. 6d.; white, 33s.@33s.

Liverpool Provision Market.

PROVISIONS generally are without any essential change. BEEF dull. PORK quiet. BACON steady at former rates. LARD in fair request, with a small lot on the spot sold as high as 69s. ... and parcels to arrive brought 78s.@79s. TALLOW without change.

London Money Market.

There had been no change in the tone of the market since the sailing of the Asia.

CONSOLS for money closed at 94¾.

Arrival of the Kangaroo at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The steamship Kangaroo, from Liverpool, was telegraphed off the Capes of Delaware at 9 o'clock this afternoon, but as she has not yet arrived up to port, it is evident that she has been detained at Quarantine. Her dates are the same as brought by the Indian, arrived at Quebec.

Great Fremont Demonstration at Meriden, Conn.

MERIDEN, Conn., Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The Fremont mass meeting to-day has been the greatest meeting in Connecticut during the campaign. At least fifteen thousand persons have been present. Mr. BURLINGAME spoke for three hours this afternoon amid great enthusiasm. Senator FOOT is now addressing an immense crowd, while the town is filled with processions, music and banners.

Congressional Nominations in New-Jersey.

TRENTON, Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The Convention of Republicans and Americans in the Second Congressional District of New-Jersey, to-day, nominated GEORGE R. ROBBINS for Congress by acclamation. The Convention was held at Bordentown and was very harmonious and enthusiastic.

From Washington.

RESIGNATION OF JUDGE MASON—COMPENSATION TO NAVY AGENTS.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The resignation of Judge MASON as Commissioner of Patents has been tendered to the President, but it is not believed that he will vacate that office.

According to a decision of the Attorney-General, the additional per centage given to navy agents under the act of March 3, 1855, commences that day, but is to be apportioned over the whole official year, and not credited to any part of the year, in case of death or resignation.

The National Intelligencer for Fillmore.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The Intelligencer drops its neutrality this morning and supports FILLMORE for the Presidency, on the basis of the action of the Whig National Convention.

Great Fire at Macon, Ga.

MACON, Ga., Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The building occupied by the Masons and Mechanics' Banks, the old Washington Hall, and all the other buildings on the north side of the Washington Hall Block, except that occupied by the Bank of Middle Georgia and a similar wood building, were consumed by fire early yesterday morning.

The Southern Steamers.

ARRIVAL OF THE ALABAMA AT SAVANNAH.

SAVANNAH, Tuesday, Sept. 23.

The steamship Alabama, Capt. G. E. Sommers, from New-York on Saturday, arrived here at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

ARRIVAL OF THE NASHVILLE AT CHARLESTON.

CHARLESTON, Monday, Sept. 22.

The U. S. M. steamship Nashville, Capt. BERRY, from New-York, arrived here this (Monday) evening.

Non-Arrival of the Canada.

HALIFAX, Tuesday, Sept. 23—2 P. M.

The steamship Canada is now over 10 days out and about due in this port, but up to the present time no tidings have been heard of her. The weather is very thick and rainy, and there is little chance of her arrival for the next tide.

Amusements.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.—The force of this establishment for comedy and excellent revivals of the old dramatists has certainly fallen into conservative hands, and will not be dimmed while Mr. SWANBORO holds the reins. The present week has been marked by two excellent revivals, the "Rivals," and the "Poor Gentleman." Mr. BLAKE, an old and valued actor, made his reappearance in each, and was overwhelmed with applause and kindly greetings. In the line of character he undertakes, Mr. BLAKE is unquestionable; and his acquisition to the present company can scarcely be over-estimated. Mr. SWANBORO may justly boast of the best and most complete company of comedians in the United States. A series of meeting comedies with such a company is a luxury which may not be again enjoyed for years to come.

The "Poor Gentleman," played last night, was a perfect gem of acting from beginning to end. Mr. BLAKE'S Sir Robert Bramble was filled with touches of gentleness and tender emotion, which none but he can interpret, and which make the heart swell with satisfaction and pride. Mr. LEARNE was excellent as Frankish, and Mrs. HOEY charming as Emily Worldly. Mr. DYOTT and Mr. GEORGE HOLLAND were, also, remarkably good. The only one who seemed to be a little out of his element, was Mr. BURKETT, as Olliapod. Taken as a whole we have never seen a Comedy more admirably played on any stage. If it should be on the bill again go and see it by all means.

BURTON'S THEATRE.—Miss POLLIE MARSHALL, a well-known soubrette of the English stage, made her first appearance here on Monday night, and succeeded in gaining the warmest appreciation of a very large audience. Miss MARSHALL is a lady of unquestionable talent, and will become extremely popular. But she has to rub off some of her old experiences, and to acquire, for this hemisphere, a style not altogether so broad. A very little time will be sufficient for this. The careful way in which our audiences miss all Cockney points will teach a bright woman like Miss MARSHALL to make them sparingly. She is, without doubt, a great acquisition to the dramatic force of New-York.

NIBLO'S SALOON has been curiously and handsomely fitted up for the reception of Miss EMMA STANLEY, who once more delights the town with her parlor entertainments, called "The Seven Ages of Woman." The remarkably elegant and cultivated character of this entertainment makes it doubly acceptable in a handsome saloon.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—To-night Meyerbeer's Opera "L'Etoile du Nord" will be produced for the first time on this Continent, with new scenery and costumes according to MEYERBEER'S standard at Paris, and a powerful cast headed by LA GRANGE.

We have received a copy of the libretto from Mr. DARCIE, the publisher, and are requested to state that the edition sold inside the building is alone genuine. A garbled up translation has been published by a party of speculators who will try to foist it on the public outside the doors, but we are assured it is unreliable and worthless. Mr. DARCIE pays for the privilege of selling these books, and as he issues them with great punctuality and completeness, he ought to be supported.

DEMOCRATIC COUNCILMEN NOMINATIONS.

The Democratic Nominating Conventions have made the following nominations for Councilmen:

13th Council District.—No meeting.
14th Council District nominated George Tobin.
15th Council District nominated Michael Barry. (Renominated.)
20th Council District nominated Jesse Nicholls.
21st Council District nominated Charles Doty.
24th Council District nominated John McCrindell.
25th Council District nominated Wesley Hunt.
26th Council District nominated Wm. L. Waugh.
16th Council District nominated Luther Norton.
18th Council District nominated Peter Crawford.
17th Council District nominated John N. Phillips. (Renominated.)
19th Council District nominated Louis Francisco.
20th Council District nominated Sam'l Brasham, Jr.
21st Council District nominated Charles A. Kantlah.
22d Council District nominated Samuel A. Frye.
23d Council District nominated Wm. Vallean.
24th Council District nominated Samuel Young.
26th Council District nominated J. W. Birdsall.
27th Council District nominated John J. Bradley.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CONTEST IN THE EIGHTH DISTRICT.

The Democratic Congressional Convention, to nominate a candidate in the Eighth District, met again last evening, on the corner of Fourth-avenue and Thirty-second-street, and after balloting until near 11 o'clock, adjourned to Monday evening next, without nominating. Eighteen ballots were taken. On the first, the candidates stood as follows:

David J. Chatfield.....5 Horace F. Clark.....10
David S. Jackson.....7 Anson Herrick.....15

After the first ballot, Mr. CHATFIELD'S name was withdrawn, and the subsequent ballots resulted as follows:

Jackson.....10 Clark.....10
Herrick.....15

Great Republican Meeting at Yonkers.

The meeting of the Fremont Club of Yonkers, held at the Getty House, last Monday Evening, was a "season for FREEDOM and Freedom." Fifteen hundred persons were present and hundreds went away unable to gain an entrance to the large Hall.

Benjamin F. GETTY, Esq., presided, and speeches were made by CHAUNCEY SCHAFFER, LYMAN C. MASON and General JAMES, from Wisconsin.

Mr. SCHAFFER spoke for an hour and a half, and with force and eloquence showed that Mr. FILLMORE, as well from his own antecedents as from the platform on which he stood, had no claim to the support of the American Party.

The meeting broke up at past midnight. Yesterday morning it was the subject of open conversation in Yonkers that the President of the Fillmore Council of that place and many of its members had declared their intention to vote for FREMONT.

☞ The "Buck and Breaks" of the Sixth Ward have appointed a Campaign Committee that is not likely to knock under to the K. N's without a consideration. This is the way the names of the Committee start off:

Patrick { Nicholson, McCrodin, White, Grace, Longer and Early.
John Francis { McHugh.
Hugh { Daly, Donohoe, and so forth.

Free Speech will be protected in the Sixth Ward so long as there is a shillelah left in the Ward, or the speaker is on the right side.

☞ A meeting of the Eighteenth Ward Fremont Republican Association was held on Monday evening at the corner of Twentieth-street and Third-avenue. Mr. BENJAMIN WARNER, one of the Vice-Presidents, took the Chair, and made a spirited address. Hon. SAMUEL R. CURTIS, of Iowa, recently elected member of Congress, was then introduced, and held the attention of the audience through a long address in which he exposed the conspiracy between Buchanan, France and Atrocious, and the surpassing of the Missourians backed by Federal power. Republican electors of the Ward who wish to participate in the primary elections, must give in their names and addresses for enrollment before the evening of such elections. Some twenty names were added to the list on Monday evening.

☞ A letter from West Hoboken, N. J., dated Sept. 22, says, "the cause of Freedom is not in much danger in New-Jersey, surely, if a Fillmore man meeting took place there, and willing to hear arguments to the contrary, I was there and heard the Lecture which did not convince a very small vote, thirty souls, and that too, after putting the country for a week with their placards."

☞ Hon. ANSON BURLINGAME and Wm. CULLEN BRYANT are to address the Republicans at Hoboken this evening, across the residence of the President and Treasurer Central Club.

☞ Mr. BAYNE will address the merchants in Washington on Thursday, the 25th inst., at 8 o'clock.

Welcome to Mr. Peabody—Interesting Correspondence.

NEW-YORK, Tuesday, Sept. 16, 1856.

GEO. PEABODY, Esq.: Dear Sir: We rejoice to notice your safe return to your native country after an absence of twenty years.

Permit us, dear Sir, to bear you a cordial welcome, and to avail ourselves of this happy occasion to express the high estimation we, in common with our fellow-citizens, entertain for the success of your financial efforts you have made during your long residence in London to give an elevated position to the commercial character and honor of your country-men.

Your constant efforts also in social life to bring citizens of the United States and Great Britain into more direct and intimate acquaintance, we rejoice to believe, has tended to remove many prejudices, to soften political asperities and to promote feelings of good will and fraternity between the two countries.

Connections like these inspire us with an earnest wish to do honor to one who has so much honored his country, and in saying this we feel sure that we but express the feelings not only of those of our country-men who have enjoyed the pleasure of your acquaintance and participated in your hospitalities, but also of all those who have knowledge of your constant kind attentions to your countrymen when in Europe.

Desirous of testifying further our high appreciation of your character, we, the undersigned, for ourselves and in behalf of a wide circle of fellow citizens, beg to ask the favor of your company at dinner, on an early a day as may suit your convenience to indicate.

With sentiments of cordial esteem and regard we are, dear Sir, your friends and obedient servants,

NEW-YORK, Monday, Sept. 22, 1856.

GENTLEMEN: I beg to hand you inclosed my reply to the letter from the "Merchants and Citizens of New-York," communicated to me on my arrival in that City, and to again express my sincere regret that my arrangements compel me to adopt a course so little in accordance with the wishes you so warmly addressed at our interview on the 11th inst.

With great respect, I am truly yours,
GEORGE PEABODY.

To Messrs. CHARLES AUGUSTUS DAVIS, THOMAS TILESTON, WALTER SHERMAN, HENRY A. COIT, RICHARD BELL, J. T. SOUTTER, SAMUEL D. BABCOCK, Committee of Arrangements.

NEW-YORK, Monday, Sept. 22, 1856.

GENTLEMEN: Your letter of the 16th inst. is before me. Allow me to say without affectation that no one can be more surprised than myself at the cordial welcome which you extend to me. Had my commercial and social life in London produced even half the results with which your kindness endows it, I should esteem myself more than repaid for all labors there by such a letter, subscribed as it is by many old and dear friends, by gentlemen whose names in letters are co-extensive with the knowledge of our own language, and by merchants whose enterprise has carried the flag of our country into every sea that connects population.

If during my long residence in London the Commercial character and honor of our countrymen have stood upon an elevated position, it has not been the result of my humble efforts. In common with many of you, I have tried to do my part in accomplishing those ends. That the American name now stands where it does in the Commercial world is mainly owing to her merchants at home, who have extended her Commerce till its tonnage equals that of any other nation, who have drawn to her shores the wealth of other lands, under whose directions the fertile fields of the interior have been made accessible and peopled, and whose ability to their engagements has become proverbial throughout the world.

It has been my pleasure during a long residence in London to renew many old friendships, and to form many new acquaintances, which I trust will continue through life; and it has been my good fortune to be permitted to cultivate these in social life, where I have endeavored, as much as possible, to bring my British and American friends together. I believed that by so doing I should, in my humble way, assist to remove any prejudices, to soften political asperities and to cultivate feelings of good will and fraternity between the two countries. It gives me great pleasure to be assured that my country-men at home have sympathized in these efforts and believed that they are partially accomplished. The recent temporary estrangement between the two governments served to demonstrate how deep and cordial is the alliance between the interests and sympathies of the two peoples. By aiding to make individuals of the two nations known to each other, I supposed that I was contributing my mite towards the most solid and sure foundation of peace and good will between them; and while the power remained to me I shall continue in a course which you approve.

In returning to my native land after an absence of twenty years, I had several objects in view. I wished once more to see the land of my birth and early youth, and the surviving members of my family; once more to greet my friends in every part of the country; and to see and know the new generations that have come up since I left, and who are to be their successors. I also desired to visit every section of the Union, and to witness with my own eyes the evidences at home of the prosperity of which I have seen abundant proofs abroad. The twenty years that have elapsed since my last visit are the most important twenty years in the commercial history of America. Like Rip Van Winkle, I am almost appalled at the wonderful changes that already meet my eyes. Although, as you well know, I have not slumbered somewhere in a Sleepy Hollow, I stand amazed at the energy and activity which characterize your city. It is my wish and purpose to remain in the country long enough to understand these changes and their causes.

On mature reflection, gentlemen, I think that if I accept the hospitalities which have been tendered to me by yourselves, and by friends in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston and other cities, I shall very seriously interfere with the objects of my visit. I have, therefore, been obliged to come to the conclusion to refuse all invitations to dinner with the single exception of my native town of Danvers, in Massachusetts. I assure you most sincerely that I regret very much that my plans thus compel me to decline the high honor which you propose to confer upon me and to deny myself the pleasure of meeting so many personal friends.

With great esteem and respect, I am, gentlemen, your faithful servant,
GEORGE PEABODY.

A man named [illegible] WEBER, residing at No. 78 Avenue B, accidentally fell down stairs at that place about 4 o'clock this morning, and so injured himself that he died soon afterwards. He was a native of Germany, and about 40 years of age.

AN AMERICAN JOURNAL [illegible]

The [illegible] of Mr. [illegible] of the American Banner, published somewhere in Mississippi, in which the introduces his new editor, John Smith, to the public, has had an immense sale [illegible] Europe. It is questionable whether a journal can be found which has not reproduced this charming specimen of Mississippi newspaper literature. The modesty of Mr. Smith's character, which is described by his protectress as mild and polite to excess, and yet who has fought five duels, and each time killed his man; has something of the wild American in it which the European brethren of the press do not understand. The worst of it is, they take Madame Pfeiffer's narrative in earnest. So, too, the announcement of Tom Thumb's robbery at Cincinnati has had an immense circulation in Europe, the editors, notwithstanding they have all read Barnum's Autobiography, never suspecting they were publishing an advertisement. MALAKOFF.

POLITICAL MISCELLANY.

The Providence Journal says: "We copied the appeal of George W. Curtis for aid to circulate documents in Pennsylvania. One gentleman of this State answered it promptly with a remittance of $100; another sent $10, and two gentlemen collected $65 in dollar subscriptions in a few hours Saturday for the same good purpose. Doubtless more has been sent; and much more can be profitably used in enlightening the public mind.

A Welsh either, by the name of John Thomas, is attracting much attention in Western Pennsylvania, for his rough but strong and eloquent speeches in favor of Fremont. He was induced to make a speech at a small meeting among the miners, and his ability was so strongly evinced as to excite high expectations. It is said he will be kept upon the stump until the close of the canvass.

The Boston Atlas says: O. W. Buneman, Esq., of Amherst, N. H., the Democratic candidate for Register of Deeds in Hillsborough County, last Spring, went up to Concord, to the great meeting which the Post magnified to 20,000, heard the speeches, then went home and declared for Fremont! Will not the Democracy get up another meeting?

In Lawrence County, last week, there were nine Fremont poles raised. This is poling Shamberry pretty severely; but the people of that county will poll them a good deal worse in November.

Bucks always lose their horns in November.

Saturday's Pittsburg Journal has the following:

"We learn with regret that Mr. Buchanan, the candidate for Vice-Presidency of the Pro-Slavery party, is quite out of health—so much so that for the time he has been obliged to withdraw from the active duties of the campaign and retire to his home to recruit. It was, doubtless, the depressing influence of of his visit to this city, added to the weariness necessarily incident to travel and to speaking which overcame him. We learn from a friend who saw him on the night of the 16th, that the effect of that "show of hands" was evidently like that of the ghost of slain hopes to a man very properly ambitious to attain to the position for which his party has named him."

Duty of American Citizens—Letter from Robert Emmett.

New-York, Monday, Sept. 1, 1856.

Hon. Thomas B. Carroll—Dear Sir: I regret that it will not be in my power to attend your great meeting on the 3d; neither my health nor my other engagements will permit me to leave home. I feel highly complimented, however, by your pressing invitation, and by the importance you seem to attach to my poor efforts in our cause. If I had time I should be glad to give you my views at some length in regard to the political controversy which now agitates the country; but I must confine myself to what I deem the most important aspect of this Presidential election in its results. The long threatened period has arrived when the people must decide whether the encroachments of the Slave Power shall be submitted to or effectually resisted. The friends of Free white labor must now settle this question. If they fail in this struggle, it will be useless to attempt it peacably and constitutionally hereafter. The triumph of Slavery will begin by making Kansas a Slave State. And as that would be, it would only be the emboldening weight for greater evils to follow. With Kansas as accession of strength to the South, nothing, I fear, could save the the immense territory lying west of Kansas, from being made Slave States eventually. The Slave Trade will be again legalized, and Slavery will become not only a predominant power, but a national institution.

The exclusion of free white labor from the vast extent of the Western Territory would be the death blow to our national prosperity, the great element of which is the expansion of industry to every point where it can find its reward. Free labor, we know, cannot prosper where Slavery exists. It requires, on the one hand, free soil for its exercise, and on the other, independence of the control of capital for its success and for the welfare of those who live by it. The inevitable consequence of excluding it from the Western territory must be to confine it to the already thickly populated districts, exposing it to all the social evils which result labor in crowded communities, and making it subservient, for its rewards, to the interests of those who do not labor themselves, but make profit out of the labor of others.

All classes of Free men, therefore, who depend on their own industry, have a strong interest in resisting the extension of Slavery; but it is to those of foreign birth, whose pursuits are almost exclusively dependent on their labor, that the question of Free Soil is of vital importance. They have all fled from Slavery in some form, to seek homes and resting places in this favored land. And the free exercise of their industry is the sole guarantee that this country can offer for their honorable success.

Every man, therefore, who lives by his labor, who honors it as the most noble tribute to society, who sympathizes with its struggles or who values it as the only solid basis of our national prosperity, is bound to oppose the demands of Slavery in this contest, whether made in the name of Buchanan or Fillmore. There are but two ways of doing this—either by force of arms or by force of law. The one would be civil war. The other will, I trust, be the peaceful and constitutional triumph of our ticket and platform, by the efforts of patriotic men, from all parties, who, under our Republican banner, mean to rescue our country from the greatest peril which has as yet threatened it. Believe me, my dear sir, very respectfully yours, &c., R. EMMETT.

Great Stampede from the Democratic Ranks in Michigan.

APPEAL FROM THE DEMOCRATS OF DETROIT TO THE DEMOCRATS OF MICHIGAN.

From the Detroit Daily Advertiser, Sept. 22.

In view of the almost irreparable injuries that have been inflicted upon our Democratic institutions, the long established principles of the Democratic Party, and the peace and prosperity of our beloved country, by the administration of Franklin Pierce, and the still greater injury threatened by the election of James Buchanan, who has given his unqualified and cordial approval to all its wicked measures, and stands solemnly pledged, as well by his own declaration as by the Cincinnati Platform, to carry out its policy should he be elected.

We, the undersigned, who have uniformly acted with the Democratic Party, and who voted for Franklin Pierce in 1852, feel it to be our duty as Democrats, as friends of our country, and as good citizens, publicly to declare our determination to oppose, in every honorable way, the election of James Buchanan, and to place in power and over our country John C. Fremont, and to set forth the reasons which have impelled us to this course.

We need not remind intelligent Democrats of the pledge given by the Baltimore Convention, and received by President Pierce in his inaugural address, to discountenance the agitation of the Slavery question, both in Congress and out, by all possible means. Now how that pledge was fulfilled in the repeal of the Missouri Compromise act. That is already familiar to them all, nor is it necessary to do more than briefly call their attention to the train of circumstances which that act of bad faith has produced, bring as it has, nothing but calamity, and reproach upon the Democratic Party, and only dishonor and misfortune upon the country. The chief argument urged by the Northern supporters of the act, abrogating the Missouri Compromise line, and the one which induced us to acquiesce in its necessity as we considered to palpable a breach of faith by our leaders in Congress, was that it proclaimed the great Democratic doctrine of popular sovereignty, and secured to the people of Kansas the right to regulate their own domestic affairs in their own way. Every attempt to exercise a right so dear to freemen on the part of the people of that Territory has been resisted by the whole force of the Government. Armed troops have been sent there to prevent them from "regulating their own affairs," and to force them to submit to laws enacted through bayonets, by strangers and aliens from a neighboring state. Early last Year a pretended legislature was elected by armed bands of ruffians from Missouri. The true citizens of the Territory were driven, by violence from the polls, their votes were stolen, their ballot boxes destroyed, and the voice of the people totally stifled. This Legislature, thus elected and constituted, by outlaws from a foreign state, has proceeded to enact a code of laws more in character with the Spanish Inquisition than with the laws of a free people. Neither of them had it. One of the editors declared he had seen it, but dared not speak of it lest he should be imprisoned. The laws were submitted to a committee, under the supervision of political aliens, who reported a bill which contained the two most atrocious provisions ever found in any code. Without the formality of a trial, the journals in question have declared a "warrant," and as the law lying under foot, the third was [illegible] 10,000; the [illegible] 5,000; the [illegible] 3,000; the [illegible] of all who [illegible] the right to serve as jurors who are conscientiously opposed to slavery.

The President of the United States has [illegible] the doctrine of "popular sovereignty" has been perverted, by a hireling soldiery. And this is the way that invaluable Democratic principle has been maintained by the authors of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, and they are now using the whole power of the Government to force Slavery into that Territory, for the purpose of depriving you and all of a portion of our political rights, and to degrade our brethren in Kansas to a level with Southern slaves.

Can the Democrats of Michigan sustain any longer, in power, men who have perpetrated these outrages, and who are pledged to perpetuate them; and who have so openly violated the principles of Jefferson, Jackson and Democracy? Let others do as they may, we will have no part nor lot in the matter. Believing with the Free Press, our Democratic organ in this city, that "a people who would not relief of him forced upon them by fraud and violence," as it admits the Border Ruffian laws were upon the people of Kansas, "would be unworthy the name of American," we shall hereafter use our influence to defeat the men who have attempted, and are now attempting by such infamous means to compel the people of Kansas to submit to their cruel laws. "Thinking God," as the same paper says, "that the salvation of Kansas from Slavery is drawing to a close," we shall do nothing to perpetuate it in the person of James Buchanan, nor to continue its infamous policy by his election; on the contrary, we shall work and vote for John C. Fremont, the only real Democratic candidate now before the people, fully satisfied that his administration will accord with the best interests of the country, and we call upon every true-hearted Democrat in the State to follow our example.

Signed by Two Hundred and Fifty Democrats who Voted for Franklin Pierce.

The Weather of the Autumnal Equinoxes.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

The weather of sixty-eight Autumnal equinoxes, counting from 15th to 28th of September, both inclusive, for a period of sixty-nine years, viz., from 1768 to 1836, both years inclusive, in reference to the fall of rain in this locality, within the limit of the days named, which embrace the Autumnal equinox of each year, has been as follows: In four of the years, viz. 1768, 1795, 1840, and 1833, no rain fell between 15th and 28th September, but in the four other years rain fell, within the term mentioned above, on one hundred and seventy-eight days, viz.:

1 day of the term in each year, in 10 several years.
2 days of the term in each year, in 11 several years.
3 days of the term in each year, in 19 several years.
4 days of the term in each year, in 14 several years.
5 days of the term in each year, in 3 several years.
6 days of the term in each year, in 1 year.

The sun crossed the line, in the present month, on the 22d, and between the 15th and 23d the temperature has fluctuated from 65° maximum to 50° minimum, a change of 15°. Four heavy thunder-storms have been experienced in the time within the field of our research, and—inches of rain have fallen at my place of observation. The temperature of this morning is low enough for frost south of 45° North latitude.

School of Design for Women.

This institution begins the fifth year of its existence, at No. 681 Broadway, under increased facilities for instruction. During the coming Winter, several of our popular celebrities will give lectures at the school on matters directly related to art and its cultivation. Last Winter about fifty pupils availed themselves of this institution, and, we understand, that this season the number will be even greater. The intention of the founders was to test, by experiment, whether women could be profitably employed in certain mechanical branches of the fine arts hitherto monopolized by men. There is hardly any large commercial firm which has not its embellished catalogue, and the demand for feminine skill in making wood engravings of such things, and in copying engravings for the illustration of books, is likely to increase indefinitely.

Railroad in Ring.

To the Editor of the N. Y. Daily Times:

Sir: The necessity of lighting the Railroad Tunnels on the Fourth-avenue, so forcibly alluded to in your paper of this day, induces me to request you to remind the public of another fact in relation to the wants of the people, urgently demanded of the New-York and Harlem Railroad Company.

About two months ago the Common Council ordered the Company to lay the grooved rail along their road. The Company remonstrated, alleging that their large passenger and freight cars cannot be run on that kind of rail. As it appears that this statement has put an end to the matter, I would remind all those who are interested, that those very cars can be seen running on the grooved rail in Grand-street, between Bowery and Centre-streets, apparently with more steadiness than on the strap-irons on other parts of the road.

New-York, Sept. 23, 1856. AN OBSERVER.

Target Excursion.

A target company of unusual magnitude and grotesqueness and variety of dress passed down Broadway on Monday forenoon. The forenoon rain was at the time at its climax. The parties comprising the company, however, gave no heed to the rain, but with a lively band of music at their head marched on in "gallant array," attracting universal attention on their line of march. The most attractive feature was a strapping individual in the centre of the company wearing a female dress and enormous "hoop." Bringing up the rear of the company was a jackass of remarkably diminutive proportions drawing on a small two-wheeled vehicle a man of Falstaffian size and dress. The dresses throughout were of rich material, and the company composed evidently of "crack" fellows.

The Rhoades Guard, named in honor of David B. Rhoades, Esq., a popular gentleman connected with the business department of the Tribune, went to Flushing on Monday, on their first annual target excursion. They had a very agreeable time.

The Atlantic Blues, Captain O'Kane, passed through the streets yesterday afternoon, with a band of music, and made a fine appearance.

The Emerald Guard, Capt. Corr, numbering 50 muskets, passed our office yesterday.

Cholera in Madeira.

This fearful pestilence, which has carried off nearly one-third of the population of the city of Funchal, and committed great ravages throughout all parts of the Island, was abating at last accounts, but must leave great misery in its train. Having taken place at a season devoted to agricultural pursuits, there is fear of much famine and distress ensuing.

Widows and orphans, under this state of things, particularly need assistance. Many in this City, who have visited that little Island, either in search of health, business or pleasure, and have looked back with delight upon its exquisite scenery and climate, and the simplicity of its mountain peasantry, will be pained to hear of this sad calamity, and sympathize with the poor unfortunates.

Subscriptions are being taken in this City. They amount to about $1,500 at this time, which, along with those sent from England and Portugal, it is hoped may avert a vast amount of suffering.

Subscriptions will be gratefully received by Seaman Benedict, Jr., No. 5 New-street; George M. Lewis, No. 61 Front-street; Hayward & West, No. 90 Wall-street; William Dunlap, No. 88 Cedar-street; James W. Hayward, No. 89 Wall-street.

New Alexandrines.

Look out for two-dollar bills on the Park Bank of this City, issued to-day. The alexandrine is well done and calculated to deceive, having been passed by one of our City Banks.

The vignette of the "two" is a view of the City Hall, in the body of the bill; while the face has for figure holding a silver dollar each, the owner figure representing New-York State coin of usage.

☞ The Fremont Clubs of Fordham are holding a meeting this evening at Fordham Hall. Addresses will be made by Hon. Gerrit Smith, Hon. Fernando Wood and Frank Blair, Jun., Esq. The German band will be held, and speeches are expected from Rev. Dr. Bellows, Phillips, McKinney and others.

☞ We regret to hear of the continued and increasing illness of John G. Saxe. The circle of friends which attested his feeling the last Winter seems to have increased in a remarkable manner.

☞ Rev. Dr. Thompson had an insurance of only one thousand dollars on his books, papers and furniture—a sum far below the value of his property destroyed at Singapore lately.

☞ Benj. F. Butler, Esq., who has been absent in Europe for the last three months, returned on Thursday last in improved health.

☞ Rev. T. L. Cuyler, of the Market-street Church, has declined the call of the Reformed Dutch Church, in Twenty-third-street.

Taking the Responsibility and Marrying the Girl.

A German named Ferdinand Fritta, was arrested a few days since by Sergeant Monnan, of the Fourth District Police Court, charged with bastardy. When informed of the nature of the charge he seemed much frightened, and promised to marry the girl. "But," he added, "rich of them rash is? I knows dot, vier, fuerf, sechs, very mooch!"

When taken before Justice Warren he would marry the complainant if he knew who she was. She was sent for and was soon in the presence of Mr. Fritta, who instantly recognized her claims. No one objecting, the complainant and prisoner were married by the magistrate, according to the laws of the State, in such cases made and provided.

A number of Germans, male and female, crowded the court room to witness the affair, in which they all seemed much interested. One of the lady spectators was so well pleased at its happy termination, that she promised to furnish a home for the new couple, and then all retired.

Fort Hamilton Relief Society Report.

Dr. Roche reported James Maguire, Mr. Olaff's gardener, who entered the Hospital on Sunday night, as having died at half-past 1 yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Bailey slowly but steadily improving. Mr. Chas. Sparks and Miss Sarah Ross very much improved. All others doing well.

New Cases.—Bridget Coulan, Thomas Coulan, and Mrs. Duff's child, all young children, and the father an infant; remarkable as being the first one attacked by the fever.

No new cases in the Military Hospital—all doing well. FRANCIS R. BERIER, Secretary.

Raising of the Knickerbocker.—Our readers will recollect the particulars of the sinking of the steamboat Knickerbocker, near Fort Montgomery, on the Hudson River, some three or four weeks since. She has since been raised, and is now lying at the foot of Christopher-street, having more the appearance of a floating heap of rubbish than of a steamboat.

Soon after she sunk, measures were taken for learning her whereabouts and bringing her up. It was ascertained that she lay in about forty feet of water, and that she had turned completely over in sinking, the walking-beam of her engine dragging in the mud. Two boom-derricks were brought up, one on either side, and she was raised, bottom upwards. It was found that two or three holes had been made in the bottom, and these were filled, after which she was righted up. This was on Saturday last.

A steam pump was then introduced, and in about three hours she was cleared of water, and the tide setting in she righted up and was found capable of floating. She was towed down to New-York, and reached the foot of Christopher-street about 5 o'clock on Sunday morning. She was raised near Caldwell's, about forty-two miles from the City. Her engines are in good order, though the boilers have not yet been raised, and are in 150 feet water.

From the engine aft she is almost completely demolished; but from the engine forward the damage is comparatively small. She presents a very singular appearance, lying at the pier, at Christopher-street. Everything on her upper decks, with the exception of the machinery, which still stands erect, seems smashed to pieces, and is distributed in the wildest confusion, looking much more like heaps of rubbish than the furniture or appointments of a first-class river steamboat.

☞ The steamship Black Warrior, 1,000 tons, was yesterday taken on the balance dock for repairs; she will be recaulked and newly painted. The packet ship London, 1,050 tons, is also on the sectional dock for repairs. She will be stripped, recaulked, and newly coppered.

☞ Rob Lockwood, of this City, is selling Fremont letter paper and envelopes, with a beautiful portrait of the "Pathfinder" engraved thereon. The manufacturers, Putnam & Emerson of Boston, it is said, have eight presses running day and night to supply the demand for these articles.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—Sept. 23.

Before Judge Betts.

INDICTMENTS.

The Grand Jury this morning brought in the following bills of indictment:

The United States vs. James M. Hughes.—An indictment for manslaughter, in throwing overboard a seaman named Malcolm from the ship Stag Hound, in Canton.

The United States vs. Charles Stephens.—An indictment for murder on board the ship Mary E. Boulch, committed upon C. E. Ross, while on the high seas.

The United States vs. James Sailor.—An indictment for cruel and unusual punishment committed by the master of the ship Typhoon while on the high seas.

The United States vs. James Burke, James White and Patrick Conner.—An indictment for larceny committed on the high seas on board the steamship Illinois.

The United States vs. Frederick Brown.—An indictment for resisting the United States Marshal in the service of process.

PROCEEDINGS IN REFERENCE TO THE DEATH OF LORENZO B. SHEPARD.

At the opening of the Court this morning a motion was made that the Court adjourn out of respect to the memory of Mr. Shepard. Mr. McKean in making the motion briefly referred to the fact that Mr. Shepard was for a short time District-Attorney of the United States, and characterized him as one who was distinguished for integrity as a lawyer and as a man.

Judge Beebe seconded the motion, saying that he had known the deceased from the commencement of his legal life, and indeed before he was admitted to the bar, when he was a member of the moot courts and associations by which law students prepare themselves for practice, in which he took an exalted stand, not only for industry and clearness, but for his courtesy and kindness. He also referred to his acquaintance with Mr. Shepard while he was District-Attorney of the City and County of New-York, to whose duty he brought great legal knowledge and industry. And in all the offices he had held, Judge Beebe said he had yet to see the man who could charge Mr. Shepard with a want of integrity, political or private, and he was always esteemed, not only by political friends, but by his opponents.

Judge Betts said: The Court feels there is a great propriety in the motion. I acquiesce fully in what has been said of Mr. Shepard. While he was District-Attorney here his duties were always performed in a professional and manly manner. I probably knew him as well as any one at the bar. I think he informed me that his first contested trial was in this Court; I was struck with his appearance at that time, being so young a man, and took occasion to make his acquaintance. The Judge went on to speak of his having advised Mr. Shepard to confine himself to his profession, and to conversations which he then had with him on the subject, from which he was satisfied that such a course was more congenial to Mr. Shepard's tastes, and that if he had a fault it was in yielding too readily to the wishes of his friends and taking active part for their sake in pursuits outside of his profession. And the Judge said that Mr. Shepard had assured him that after he had finished the term of office which he held at his death, he should henceforth confine himself to the labors of his profession, and he thought also his remarks by saying: His death is a great loss to us all, to the Courts in which he has practiced, and to the community. I accept the motion that this Court stand adjourned, and order a minute to be made of the respect in Mr. Shepard, and that the motion be entered upon the minutes of the Court.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Sept. 23.

Before Hon. Judges Sandford, Clerke and Barbour.

THE MINER-AVENUE RAILROAD CASE—JUDGMENT RESTRAINED AND PERPETUAL INJUNCTION AWARDED.

A. B. Widmayer et al. vs. Peter C. Mary et al.—This action is to obtain a judgment against the defendants, Roosevelt, J.—Mason, Wagner, Hasenauer, Hoffmann & Stoerck of the City, and also against the Commissioners of Excise of the City and County of New-York, restraining the issue of certain licenses to certain persons by the Commissioners, and under color of a law passed from the City Council, and also against the Commissioners of Excise of the City and County of New-York, restraining them from issuing licenses in the first instance, on the ground that the City Council had no power to pass the law, and that the law itself is void, because it is in violation of the Constitution of the State, in that it is a local or special law, and that the action of the City Council in passing the law was not in good faith, but was a fraud upon the rights of the plaintiffs, and that the Commissioners of Excise had no power to issue the licenses, and that the plaintiffs would be injured by the issuing of the licenses, and that the plaintiffs have no other remedy than by this action. On the part of the defendants it was claimed that the City Council had the power to pass the law, and that the Commissioners of Excise had the power to issue the licenses, and that the plaintiffs have a remedy at law, and that the City Council had a right to pass the law, and that the Commissioners of Excise had a right to issue the licenses, and that the plaintiffs have no cause of action. The Court found in their favor, and granted a perpetual injunction restraining the issue of the licenses, and the defendants appealed. The Court now reversed the decision of the Court below, and dismissed the complaint, with costs to the defendants.

NEW-JERSEY.

Republican Mechanics in New-Jersey.

Speedwell Iron Works, near Morristown, N. J., Monday, Sept. 22, 1856.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

In your paper of the 20th inst. we find an account of the mass meeting held by the Republican Party at Morristown on the 18th inst. In that account we find the following statement:

"Morris County abounds in iron-works, and other manufacturing establishments, where the cause of freedom has hosts of silent advocates among the workmen, addicted as they naturally are to the rights of white labor. One such establishment near Morristown is owned by the only representative of New-Jersey in the lower house of Congress, who supported the Administration in its Kansas-Nebraska policy. The proprietors, unluckily, are generally advocates of the interests of freedom, and to prevent the stampede of their laborers to the Republican meeting which was preparing on every side, gave out the word that whoever should go that day to Morristown need not return; the fact would be equivalent to dismissal."

Now we, whose names are hereto subscribed, are workmen at the "Speedwell Iron Works," which are carried on by Messrs. Graham Vail & Co. You will find the names of votes employed at said Works signed to this Card. We do not all agree in our political views, nor in our preferences for Presidential candidates, but we all do agree in most emphatically declaring that so far as we, or any of us, know, have heard and believe, no one of our employers said or did anything to deter or dissuade any of us from attending that Republican Meeting. The statement that our employers gave out word that whoever should go that day to Morristown need not return, is not true. They gave out no such word as that to any of us. Such of us as desired to go went—those who did not desire to go remained. We acted in that respect as we saw fit, without seeing or hearing any attempt by any of our employers to influence us one way or the other. Your obedient servants,

D. Vail,	W. Longman,
Joseph R. Green,	M. Kinsella,
Wm. A. Stelwell,	Henry Brown,
Aaron A. Canfield,	Melvin Force,
F. Dover,	Robert Tillery,
Wm. Tooke,	James Pave,
John A. Beach,	James Davis.

This is to certify that I have worked for Mr. G. Vail 23 years, and have never known him in any way to hinder any person from attending any political meeting or voting as he thought best.

JAMES DAVIS.

Hudson County Nominations.

The Hudson County Democratic Convention was held, at Mortimore's Hotel, in the city of Hoboken, yesterday afternoon. Hon. C. V. Glickman, Mayor of Hoboken, was nominated for State Senator, and Henry R. Beatty for Sheriff.

☞ A banner, the gift of the ladies of Jersey City, was presented to the Hibernian and Democratic Club of Jersey City, last evening, at Centennial Hall, in the presence of a large audience. John H. Voorhees presented the banner, and F. D. Beyer replied.

The Trees of America.

From the Boston Evening Transcript.

Dr. R. U. Piper, of Woburn, who is engaged in the preparation of a splendid work on "The Trees of America," is now visiting William Cullen Bryant, at his residence at Long Island. In a letter commending the proposed volume to public patronage, the following passage occurs:

"If, in your wanderings in search of fine trees, you should ever come this way, there is, not far from my place on Long Island, a black walnut tree, 140 years old, with an immense 'latitude of boughs,' as Cowper says, in speaking of the Yardly oak—and a trunk of twenty-four feet in circumference at four feet from the ground. Your circumference of our revolutionary history, are associated with the dwelling, cider mill, which stands in its mighty shadow.

I should be glad to be your host during your visit.

I am, sir, very respectfully yours,

WM. CULLEN BRYANT.

Dr. R. U. Piper."

The last mail brought us a letter from Dr. Piper, from which we make the following extract:

"The black walnut alluded to in Mr. Bryant's letter is a noble tree, one that I appreciate. It is the back in natural growth, and 18 in height; the circumference of the trunk is 20 feet; it is 140 years old; the cottage which stands in its mighty shadow, and which is much older than itself, I have also drawn; this will answer for an appropriate back ground of the tree. There is also here on Mr. Bryant's grounds a very grand oak, which I have also drawn. I have to get a full length figure of the poet to put in the foreground of this picture. Mr. Bryant's garden is full of fine rose-trees in flower, which he tells me, will continue in bloom all Summer. The public grounds in this city are thronged with people from the trees about the place, while the ground is covered with pears, apples, melons, &c.

More School Marms for the West.—Twenty-three young women from Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut, teachers in various institutions in the West, passed through this city on Monday last, on their way to Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Iowa. Not Illinois alone, but the West generally, is indebted to the Eastern States for a large portion of its best teachers, and these young women are those who have taken up the work of teaching in the West. There were twenty-five in the company, and they were all young, healthy, and good looking. They were accompanied by Rev. Mr. Kingsley, who has been for many years a resident of Illinois, and who, we understand, is now on his way to Vermont, to recruit more teachers for the West. There were twenty-five in this [illegible] of the Slave-Oligarchy.—A [illegible] of the city of Washington, [illegible] the other day to question [illegible] the impossibility of Slavery, and is now [illegible] in New-England. Rev. [illegible] SOARBURY, an influential minister [illegible] Baptist persuasion in South Carolina, [illegible] to stamp with the seal of Christ's church the murderous sentence of PARSONS S. BROOKS upon Mr. SUMNER, and he likewise [illegible]. The Methodist Conference of [illegible] Missouri was prevented by the threats [illegible] Pro-Slavery Party in that State from [illegible] in regular session last Spring. Several [illegible] ministers have been roughly handled, [illegible]-ridden, beaten. One, Rev. WILLIAM SELLERS, after the most brutal ill-treatment, tarring and feathering, was obliged to ride for his life [illegible] the pursuit of the Pro-Slavery savages. A white-haired brother of the same faith was shot dead by his side for striving to stay the [illegible]. These things were done, not because the individual ministers had recorded their testimony against Slavery, but simply because they preach the doctrine of JOHN WESLEY, who pronounced the institution the "sum of all villainies," and denied that the Christian could conscientiously have fellowship with the slaveholder. Such facts only go to establish the [illegible] fact, that Slavery is in a position of defen[illegible] antagonism to Christianity. They are in a state of war. The infidel abolitionism of [illegible] and his clique is less dreaded by the slaveholder than the preacher of the unadulterated faith of Jesus, as characterized in the Gospels. Nor is this hostile attitude unapparented by the religious bodies of the country. Save in a few such instances as those we have cited, the Christian minister at the South is there upon that giant sin which shelters and authorizes in its very nature all other sins. So Northern religious associations, in order to circulate their publications in the Slave States, are obliged to exclude every reference to Slavery. The existence of hostilities is thus officially recognized. The only method of inculcating the teachings of our Saviour consists in [illegible], disfigure, and degrading them, until they lose all those divine proportions with which they sprang from his lips. Thus mutilated, they are allowed; just as the Romanists tolerate the Bible when profoundly overlaid with doctrinal notes and interpretations.

The evangel thus authorized in the Slave States is but a feeble reflex of the primitive faith. It is no longer a Gospel preached to the poor; it carries no liberty to the captive; it unbinds no chain; it frees none that is oppressed; it fails to teach that, "As ye would that men should do unto you, so do ye also unto them." The instrumentalities and energies which systematized benevolence endeavors to maintain everywhere, are there paralyzed and ineffectual. In a word, religion and the rights of God are there fettered with the same chain that manacles the rights of man: the whip of the slave-driver lies across the disfigured pages of the Bible. The gospel of Christ—we say it with deliberation and with sorrow—is not and cannot be preached in the presence of Slavery. Is, then, the sincere Christian no duties to perform at such in the present political crisis? Has the injunction, "go preach my gospel to every creature" lost its obligation? The question now stands to this people is, shall Slavery, an anti-Christian energy which poisons and impede pure religion, extend its area, and thus cut other broad empires of God's earth from the heritage of God's word? Where it exists already we may shelter ourselves behind the command to submit ourselves to the powers that be, and decline to combat with the misguided sentiments of the people. But when it proceeds in the spirit of aggression to rob the kingdom of Christ of some other and the fairest of its provinces, and interpose to arrest the spread of the gospel, and cripple still further the activities that would give the [illegible] of truth to every human creature, has not the soldier of Christ an inevitable duty to perform? Should he not lace his armor on, and [illegible] results to repel the foul invasion? Will he stand censured when he pleads [illegible] that the cause of his master does not [illegible]

[illegible] Slavery [illegible] "War, after sowing its blighting influences [illegible] the ground, reaping its prosperity [illegible] and generating spirit, the maintenance of plain [illegible] gospel truth, and its conditions to extend its [illegible] work—side if possible, why did you not withstand it then, when every consideration pressed you, when the alarm was sounded in your ears, and the peril fell in your sight." In this day, what excuse drawn from the text-book of the politician will avail the recreant soldier of God? It will not do to say that religion is of spiritual concern; it has nothing to do with the affairs of the world. Christianity has no higher praise than that it is practical; that it is vital; that it has reference to life; that it enters into, and has prescriptions for, every emergency of human existence. The minister has no more solemn duty than to apply it to the rising incidents of the moment; to adapt its injunctions to the requirements of busy life; so that the daily walk and conversation of the disciple, as well as his inward and spiritual condition, may absorb and reflect light from the same divine fountain. A gospel with a narrower scope than this is not the gospel of the Galilean; it is a gospel of faith without works; of conviction without action; an enthusiastic abstraction, not a rule of every-day practice. The Christian who in his closet prays that the government of his country be administered in equity, and that its rulers be endowed with wisdom and justice, what is he better than a hypocrite, unless he endeavor to realize his aspirations by corresponding action and exhortation among his fellows? The minister who reads the daily formula invoking the deity to give our magistrates wisdom so they may rule the country in peace and righteousness, how shall he be pardoned if, from the pulpit, he omit to give his congregation such instruction, as shall guide them to the choice of wise and righteous rulers? Heaven only works in human affairs through human instrumentalities. The wagoner and Hercules in the fable give us the true moral. Without labor, prayer is of little worth. Our vows to God and our votes at the ballot-box must correspond, or we insult the All-Giver. The course of duty is, therefore, obvious. If Christianity be practical, its professors can never find an occasion where its reduction to practice is more imperatively demanded by the interests of Christ's Church universal, than in now uniting to withstand by voice, counsel, and vote, the spread of the unchristian code of Slavery. The duty is a personal one, and for omission we shall surely be held to answer at the great day personally.

Disunion Speeches.

The most effectual aid that has been rendered to the Republican cause has been the speeches and letters of prominent Southern politicians, such as KEITT, BROOKS, SLIDELL, and some of lesser note. BROOKS' gallant proposition to the South to march to Washington and steal the Government archives and the National treasure, which was received with such loud cheers by the South Carolinians, cannot be estimated at less than ten thousand votes for FREMONT; the recent speech of Mr. KEITT, in Lynchburg, in which he proposes to steal Cuba, must be worth as many more, and the letter of Senator SLIDELL, asserting that the Union ought to be dissolved if FREMONT should be elected, may be fairly estimated at twice the value of KEITT's and BROOKS' speeches. Mr. SLIDELL is now in this City, and as it is his birth-place, where he received his education and pursued his professional studies, there would be great propriety in his delivering an address to his former fellow townsmen on the political aspects of the times. We presume that even Mr. BALDWIN, the President of the Merchants' Exchange, would consent to his using the granite steps of that building to address the denizens of Wall-street from. Mr. SLIDELL being a New-Yorker, and so long a resident of the South, he would be listened to with peculiar interest. He has boldly and distinctly stated that the Union not only ought to be but will be dissolved in the event of FREMONT's election, and as he is understood to be Mr. BUCHANAN's most intimate political friend and adviser, his views on the present crisis would command especial attention. Let him, by all means, enlighten us as to the manner in which the Union is to be broken up in the event of the anticipated contingency. We cannot imagine that he would idly publish a threat of disunion unless he believes in it, and, if he was serious in his declaration, he could not do the country a greater service than to make it sensible of its danger. All the disunion speeches yet made, from Mr. FILLMORE's down to Mr. KEITT's, have had a marvelous effect in making converts for the Republican cause, and we presume that it must be a growing conviction of this fact which keeps Mr. SLIDELL silent.

Out-door Amusements.

One of the chiefest phenomena which struck Mr. EMERSON, during his late visit to England, was the frame and muscle of the men he saw. Several disparaging allusions to degenerate man he omitted in his English lectures, conquered and made ashamed by the muscle that he beheld listening. He could not, in the face of the overflowing Saxon vitality, talk of feeble frames and enervated constitutions.

It is painful to reflect that in this country no such impression would have restrained him. In our manufacturing cities, which compare with those English ones in which he lectured, the physical man is almost entirely neglected. We pursue the dollar. Fortuna has her million worshipers. Hygeia but few. Hard work, late hours, rapid dinners and little exercise make us, for the most part, dyspeptics and valetudinarians.

There is no natural reason on earth why Americans should not be as muscular as Englishmen. Appearances have proved as much as that the skeleton is full as large, and all we want is that vigorous attention to health which is at present scouted as our pride to neglect. We have a good many gymnasiums in this country, but the majority of the patrons are Germans and Englishmen. And we have no society equivalent to that excellent institution the Turnverein, which Austrian governments view with such alarm.

We have had our attention directed to this subject by the late cricket match at Hoboken between the eleven of the United States, and the eleven of Canada. On inquiry we find that in the so called eleven of the United States there was not a single American playing.

[illegible] athletic exercises which make life truthful and enjoyable. We fight well, but our prowess even in physical contest is more intellectual than the result of physical strength. Could we combine the two, how much might we not be able to compass.

The life of a young man in New-York differs terribly from the life of a youth similarly situated in London. The cockney—if you will call him so, belonging to a cricket club, has a wherry on the Thames, or a share in a small yacht, and after hours of business bats or bowls, or pulls at oars or ropes, as if his life depended on it. The young men of England do not seem to know what to do with their superfluity of animal life. Gloves and foils, and single sticks compose the furniture of their rooms, and although they discipline perhaps as much as we, they know how to work the poison off. One sees them walking along the streets big chested, fresh colored, with that loose movement of the limbs and erect carriage, which to all eyes is pleasant to look on.

The New-York youth knows not these enjoyments. Down town early and close at figures or sales. DELMONICO's at noon with brandy cocktails, work again until 4 or 5, and then to dinner. And after dinner what? Steaming billiard saloons, where the green board is an unwholesome picture of the open fields—drugged brandy swallowed by the pint, which tramps and riots upon a stomach too feeble to resist—until late at night, with flushed cheeks and wandering eyes, the worn-out youth rambles—let us hope to his home.

When shall we see Americans entering largely into cricket clubs, boat clubs, foot ball, curling, fencing, boxing, single-stick and all those manly amusements which, through the body, make the mind healthy. EMERSON says that the English schools foster brutality through their patronage of the use of the fists. We beg to differ. The gentlest men come from Eton and Rugby, and those tremendous workers in English State affairs, RUSSELL, PALMERSTON, DERBY, and the late Lord GEORGE BENTINCK would never have been able to sustain late hours and brain-labor to such an extent if they had not had their eyes blacked and their noses bloodied when they belonged to third or fourth "forms."

We have the Anglo-Saxon frame perpetuated in us. There is nothing to prevent our going ahead of our ancestors in this as in many other things, save our enervating habits. We boast that we have bigger trees, bigger rivers, and a bigger country than the English. Let us add to the list a bigger body muscle.

The President's Visit to the North.

The Boston Post announces that if President PIERCE should conclude to visit his native State this Fall, he will go direct from Washington to Portsmouth by sea in a steamer. The reason of his taking this unusual route at a stormy season of the year is not given by the Post, but it can be easily surmised. The Boston Post has always been famous for its waggeries, but nothing it has ever uttered in that line can compare with the following covert satire on the President:

"The devotion with which the President has applied himself to the discharge of his responsible and arduous duties, has been acknowledged by his strongest opponents, while the stern integrity, cool sagacity, and undeviating patriotism which have marked his brilliant career, and which will render his administration one of the proudest records in American history, are evident to all unprejudiced minds. To such a public servant—to one who has acted conscientiously in his high office, whose administration has carried the country to an unparalleled degree of prosperity, and elevated her name among the nations of the world—the people of all parties will render that respect and attention which are due to their freely chosen chief magistrate, however much some of them may deny the wisdom of a portion of the measures of the general government."

The waggery of this eulogium is intensified to the last degree when read immediately after the account of the meeting in Concord, at which the President's fellow townsmen, by a vote of four to one, refused to give him a public reception.

Mr. Frelinghuysen.

The Commercial Advertiser contained a brief article yesterday, in which it seemed to deny the truth of the statement which we made a few days since, in relation to Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN's refusal to permit his name to be used on the Fillmore electoral ticket in New-Jersey, and in respect to his sympathy with the Republican Party. The Commercial says that the statement was "wholly unauthorized by Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN." However, the fact we stated was perfectly true, and it is true, too, that Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN does not sympathize with the Fillmore Party, but, that he does sympathize in the Republican movement, though it is not to be expected, from the position he occupies as the head of a literary and scientific institution, that he will take any active or prominent part in the present political campaign. The Commercial says:

"It is well known that Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN was the personal and political friend of MILLARD FILLMORE, while that gentleman was in public political life, and that he was a warm and decided friend of Mr. FILLMORE's Administration, and of the compromise measures adopted during that Administration."

All this is true enough; and there are a good many other men of whom the same might be said, who are now active friends of the Republican candidate for the Presidency. The Commercial is very careful not to say that Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN favors the election of Mr. FILLMORE now.

Letter from Mr. Wallack, Sen.

THE HON. LOUIS BRANCH, N. J., Sept. 22, 1856.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

DEAR SIR: Owing to some erroneous reports, several of the New-York papers have lately given accounts of the state of my health totally at variance with fact.

I am happy to say that for the last eight months I have been, and am now, in wonder and better health than I have enjoyed for eight years previous.

I have seen "the embodied state of Mr. WALLACK's health, which has drawn the bankrupt dramatist," &c., &c., and that "Mr. WALLACK went to the Havana in consequence of the weak state of his health," &c., &c.

I most gratefully state that them are mistakes. I certainly do go South to set engagements in Charleston, Savannah, New-Orleans and other cities where I have not appeared for 8 years.

I have leased my theatre for a season to a gentleman who has already proved his enterprise and capability.

Previous to my Southern trips I shall have the honor of acting a certain number of nights on the boards of that theatre.

In troubling you, Sir, with this communication, it is with no vain idea that my health or movements can be of the slightest interest generally; but I have a beloved son, and other dear relations in England; relations also, in different parts of the United States.

I should be ungrateful did I not believe, too, that I

[illegible] to this note, in order to verify these statements, which otherwise would be of no importance.

Dear Sir, yours respectfully,

J. W. WALLACK,

Proprietor of Wallack's Theatre.

A PRESIDENT WITHOUT A GRAVESTONE.

President Monroe has No Monument.

There is a quiet, unassuming cemetery on the north side of Second-street, in this city, between First and Second avenues, separated from the sidewalk by a rail fence, placed upon a granite foundation. The shrubbery is always clean and vigorous; the grass is always the greenest, and the walks are scrupulously neat. There are many tasteful and appropriate monuments to the dead that sleep within this beautiful inclosure; but to the stranger of the most fastidious of its dead takes his place, there is no marble shaft, no obelisk, not even a headstone erected. But upon a simple slab of marble that lies flat some two feet square upon the earth, and is almost covered by grass, is the following inscription:

JAMES MONROE.

ROBERT TILLOTSON,

Vault No. 147.

There is nothing to indicate that the JAMES MONROE mentioned, is THE MONROE who was in the battle of White Plains, and received a ball in his shoulder at the attack on Trenton, who fought by the side of LAFAYETTE at Brandywine, who was Minister to France in 1794, and afterwards to England; who was Secretary of State in 1811, and for two full terms President of these United States. Yet such is the fact, and that weather-stained slab of marble, two feet square, is all the monument that Ex-President MONROE has.

It is a curious neglect that leaves the precious dust of one of the purest patriots that our country has been blest with, to rest in such obscurity. Thousands pass every day by the spot, admiring the well-kept grounds, pausing for the fragrance of the flowering shrubs, listening to the song of the birds that find this Oasis in the City's desert, but never dreaming that the author of the Monroe Doctrine, the fourth President of the United States, lies within a few feet of them. Monuments to men of half his intellectual stature, and a tithe of his industry and goodness of heart, are going up all over the land. Shall he who was reelected to the Presidency by a vote unanimous, with a single exception, and who never disgraced his position, have no more than this?

As MR. MONROE was a Virginian, it is the supposition of most people that he died and was buried within the Old Dominion, but this is an error.

MR. MONROE, in his last days, resided with SAMUEL GOUVERNEUR, late Postmaster of this City, who married his only daughter; their residence was on the corner of Prince and Elm streets.

The venerable Dr. FRANCIS tells us that he often met Mr. MONROE, walking out when the weather was fine, and that on these occasions he was the object of the most affectionate attentions. He has often met him making purchases for the family, at Centre Market, where all the stallmen knew and honored him. He was tall and spare, very modest in his bearing, dignified and gentlemanly. In his address, he was hesitating and diffident, as polite to the poorest and humblest as to any. He was one of the most industrious of men, a hard student, and his cares left their marks on his face. The wound that he received at Trenton was felt for many years afterward—indeed, throughout all his life he occasionally suffered from it.

His last illness was a long and tedious one. His attendant was his son-in-law's family physician, Dr. BENZIN. He expired at 10½ o'clock on the morning of the 4th of July, 1831.

His funeral was a very imposing one—the largest that at that time had ever been seen in New-York. The military, under Gen. JACOB MORTON, Grand Marshal, filed Broadway from Prince to Broad-street, through which it passed to the cemetery. The day was free, and the signs of mourning were generally adopted by our citizens. The vault in which his dust still lies is on the east side of the cemetery, just to the right of the main walk as you look in from the entrance. The passer-by will notice a small pole, on which a dove-house is perched. Within a yard of that pole is the sacred spot.

The death of Mr. MONROE was announced to Ex-President MADISON by Dr. J. W. FRANCIS, immediately upon the decease. To this the following reply was sent by Mr. MADISON, which is now, for the first time, published:

LETTER OF JAMES MADISON TO DR. JOHN W. FRANCIS.

MONTPELIER, July 9, 1831.

DEAR SIR: Your favor of the 4th, communicating the death of Mr. MONROE, was duly received. I had been prepared for the event by information of its certain approach. The time was so far happy, as it added another to the coincidences before so remarkable and so memorable. You have justly ranked him with the heroes and patriots who have deserved best of their country. No one knew him better than I did, or had a sincerer affection for him, or cherished more deeply with those to whom he was most dear.

With the thanks which I owe you, be pleased to accept, Sir, the tender of my esteem and my cordial salutations. JAMES MADISON.

Doctor FRANCIS.

Mr. MONROE shares even his grave with another man. He had no wealth when he died, and in his death no tomb of his own.

We owe it to his memory that we provide for his ashes a resting place that should be his own, or at least that a creditable monument be raised over them where they lie. Shall the dust be transferred to Greenwood, or, leaving it where it has rested for twenty-five years, shall a noble column of pure marble be erected in token of our appreciation of the worth, excellence and services of one who filled the highest office? Are there those who envied him, of whom the curious could say no harm? Who is ready to move in this matter?

ANOTHER OLD-LINE DEMOCRAT FOR FREMONT.

Letter from a Member of General Jackson's Cabinet.

At the very large and enthusiastic Republican meeting in Philadelphia on Monday, Hon. CHARLES GIBBONS stated to the meeting that Hon. SAMUEL D. INGHAM, formerly a member of Gen. JACKSON's Cabinet, who had been invited to address them, had replied to that invitation in a letter, repudiating the false Democracy of the day, and sustaining the principles and candidates of the Republican party. The son of Mr. INGHAM read the letter, as follows:

TRENTON, Sept. 22, 1856.

CHARLES GIBBONS, Esq.,

Chairman Republican State Committee.

DEAR SIR: I have duly received yours of the 17th instant, inviting my attendance at a Republican meeting in Philadelphia on Monday evening next, or if I cannot be present, to send you a few words of encouragement to those who are laboring to promote the return of the Federal Government to the principles of WASHINGTON and JEFFERSON. The infirmities of age will prevent my compliance with the former part of the request, and no doubt weaken the force of an attempt to comply with the latter. Although I have long ceased to take any active part in political affairs, yet, in the momentous issues now presented, I should be unfaithful to the dictates of my judgment, and the nonexistence convictions of a solemn duty, if I withheld any aid that might be thought useful in the trial of the great cause now before the American people. Our ancestors formed and transmitted to us one of the best governments known to the world, and it has pleased Almighty God to bless this nation apparently more than any other; we are therefore bound by the most solemn obligations to preserve our institutions as they have been handed down to us, and resist on the threshold every attempt to interpolate on the settled Constitution of our political charter false or corrupting doctrines and principles.

On one side of the great issue before us the right to hold slaves in all the territories of the United States is claimed by virtue of the Constitution of the United States. This claim is made, as an incidental power, not in the class of those necessary and proper for the execution of the granted powers, nor have its advocates persisted in an attempt to derive it from an expressed or implied term or meaning of the Constitution. They have clearly that this would be impossible, and have now rested their claim on a "higher law," endeavoring to prove that "slavery is the natural and normal condition of the laboring man, whether white or black;" and as a necessary corollary from this problem, they deduce "that the great evil of Northern free society, is that it is burdened with a servile set of mechanics and laborers, built for self-government; master and slave in their relation to each other, as much as that of parent and child, and the Northern States will yet have to adopt, in their theory of self-government, as a foundation," that "the laws, the types and principles now at work, undermine the very foundations of a political system devised by some of the best and wisest men the world has yet seen; that these are those which secure the happiness of all, within its dominion.

I will not insult your understanding by intimating

[illegible] to the Kansas delegation, in order to verify these statements, which otherwise would be of no importance.

Dear Sir, yours respectfully,

J. W. WALLACK,

Proprietor of Wallack's Theatre.

A PRESIDENT WITHOUT A GRAVESTONE.

President Monroe has No Monument.

There is a quiet, unassuming cemetery on the north side of Second-street, in this city, between First and Second avenues, separated from the sidewalk by a rail fence, placed upon a granite foundation. The shrubbery is always clean and vigorous; the grass is always the greenest, and the walks are scrupulously neat. There are many tasteful and appropriate monuments to the dead that sleep within this beautiful inclosure; but to the stranger of the most fastidious of its dead takes his place, there is no marble shaft, no obelisk, not even a headstone erected. But upon a simple slab of marble that lies flat some two feet square upon the earth, and is almost covered by grass, is the following inscription:

JAMES MONROE.

ROBERT TILLOTSON,

Vault No. 147.

There is nothing to indicate that the JAMES MONROE mentioned, is THE MONROE who was in the battle of White Plains, and received a ball in his shoulder at the attack on Trenton, who fought by the side of LAFAYETTE at Brandywine, who was Minister to France in 1794, and afterwards to England; who was Secretary of State in 1811, and for two full terms President of these United States. Yet such is the fact, and that weather-stained slab of marble, two feet square, is all the monument that Ex-President MONROE has.

It is a curious neglect that leaves the precious dust of one of the purest patriots that our country has been blest with, to rest in such obscurity. Thousands pass every day by the spot, admiring the well-kept grounds, pausing for the fragrance of the flowering shrubs, listening to the song of the birds that find this Oasis in the City's desert, but never dreaming that the author of the Monroe Doctrine, the fourth President of the United States, lies within a few feet of them. Monuments to men of half his intellectual stature, and a tithe of his industry and goodness of heart, are going up all over the land. Shall he who was reelected to the Presidency by a vote unanimous, with a single exception, and who never disgraced his position, have no more than this?

As MR. MONROE was a Virginian, it is the supposition of most people that he died and was buried within the Old Dominion, but this is an error.

MR. MONROE, in his last days, resided with SAMUEL GOUVERNEUR, late Postmaster of this City, who married his only daughter; their residence was on the corner of Prince and Elm streets.

The venerable Dr. FRANCIS tells us that he often met Mr. MONROE, walking out when the weather was fine, and that on these occasions he was the object of the most affectionate attentions. He has often met him making purchases for the family, at Centre Market, where all the stallmen knew and honored him. He was tall and spare, very modest in his bearing, dignified and gentlemanly. In his address, he was hesitating and diffident, as polite to the poorest and humblest as to any. He was one of the most industrious of men, a hard student, and his cares left their marks on his face. The wound that he received at Trenton was felt for many years afterward—indeed, throughout all his life he occasionally suffered from it.

His last illness was a long and tedious one. His attendant was his son-in-law's family physician, Dr. BENZIN. He expired at 10½ o'clock on the morning of the 4th of July, 1831.

His funeral was a very imposing one—the largest that at that time had ever been seen in New-York. The military, under Gen. JACOB MORTON, Grand Marshal, filed Broadway from Prince to Broad-street, through which it passed to the cemetery. The day was free, and the signs of mourning were generally adopted by our citizens. The vault in which his dust still lies is on the east side of the cemetery, just to the right of the main walk as you look in from the entrance. The passer-by will notice a small pole, on which a dove-house is perched. Within a yard of that pole is the sacred spot.

The death of Mr. MONROE was announced to Ex-President MADISON by Dr. J. W. FRANCIS, immediately upon the decease. To this the following reply was sent by Mr. MADISON, which is now, for the first time, published:

LETTER OF JAMES MADISON TO DR. JOHN W. FRANCIS.

MONTPELIER, July 9, 1831.

DEAR SIR: Your favor of the 4th, communicating the death of Mr. MONROE, was duly received. I had been prepared for the event by information of its certain approach. The time was so far happy, as it added another to the coincidences before so remarkable and so memorable. You have justly ranked him with the heroes and patriots who have deserved best of their country. No one knew him better than I did, or had a sincerer affection for him, or cherished more deeply with those to whom he was most dear.

With the thanks which I owe you, be pleased to accept, Sir, the tender of my esteem and my cordial salutations. JAMES MADISON.

Doctor FRANCIS.

Mr. MONROE shares even his grave with another man. He had no wealth when he died, and in his death no tomb of his own.

We owe it to his memory that we provide for his ashes a resting place that should be his own, or at least that a creditable monument be raised over them where they lie. Shall the dust be transferred to Greenwood, or, leaving it where it has rested for twenty-five years, shall a noble column of pure marble be erected in token of our appreciation of the worth, excellence and services of one who filled the highest office? Are there those who envied him, of whom the curious could say no harm? Who is ready to move in this matter?

ANOTHER OLD-LINE DEMOCRAT FOR FREMONT.

Letter from a Member of General Jackson's Cabinet.

At the very large and enthusiastic Republican meeting in Philadelphia on Monday, Hon. CHARLES GIBBONS stated to the meeting that Hon. SAMUEL D. INGHAM, formerly a member of Gen. JACKSON's Cabinet, who had been invited to address them, had replied to that invitation in a letter, repudiating the false Democracy of the day, and sustaining the principles and candidates of the Republican party. The son of Mr. INGHAM read the letter, as follows:

TRENTON, Sept. 22, 1856.

AUCTION SALES.

WILL BE SOLD, THROUGH A REFEREE, IN PARTITION, at Auction, on WEDNESDAY, Oct. 6, at 12 o'clock, the valuable property, known as No. 1 Lispenard-st., between Broadway and West Broadway, in New Merriamite. This property is in the very heart of the city, being only two miles from the City Hall, and lots from the Bible House, thirty minutes ride from Wall-st., and has a fine exposure, with frontage both on Lispenard and Merriamite streets, twelve feet of rear yard to the rear of the City Jail, at a yearly commutation of $60 for 14 years; a stable stand. The house stands upon a beautiful elevation, about 12 feet above the street level, in view of the East and Hudson Rivers, and commanding an extensive and delightful prospect of the surrounding country, presenting a very attractive appearance. The house is a commodious and nearly new, substantially built, and at present is a brick or stone house, the side being finished in with brick. The premises containing about 1½ acres, are tastefully laid out and well and tastefully ornamented, with a variety of shrubbery; several hundred acres of land upon the rear side of the railroad, having been restricted to first-class dwellings, of which this property forms a part, renders it one of the most desirable residences in the State. A personal right of possession of said property will also be sold at the time of sale, affording both an east and west entrance to the dwelling; the title is indisputable; $2,000 only of the purchase money will be required down, the balance can remain on bond and mortgage for a term of years; particulars will be given at the sale; persons wishing to examine the premises previous to the sale, will have ample time to do so by taking the trains, which leave White and Centre sts. 9½ and 11 o'clock, P. M. For particulars inquire of M. McGRAW, at the Furniture store of Stillwell & Hendrickson, No. 425 Broadway, or of the Auctioneer, No. 45 Nassau-st.

F. COLTON, Auctioneer.

GENTEEL HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE, ROSEWOOD PIANO-FORTE, LACE CURTAINS, RICH CARPETS, PARLOR FURNITURE IN ROSEWOOD, &c., &c.—F. COLTON will sell THIS DAY, Wednesday, Sept. 24, at 10½ o'clock, at No. 16 Lispenard-st., between Broadway and West Broadway, the entire general furniture of the house, comprising in part: one very superior rosewood plano-forte, 6¾ octave, made by one of the best makers in the City, and but little used; one or two suites of rosewood parlor furniture in brocatel, mahogany wardrobes, lace curtains, velvet, three-ply and other carpets; mahogany and marble-top centre and side tables, French bedsteads, dressing bureaus, sofas, 10-4 china, marble-top washstands, dining-tables, beds and hair mattresses, blankets, counterpanes, quilts, sheets, table linen, China and glass ware, cutlery, stoves, gas chandeliers, together with every article in the house. N. B.—The furniture has for the most part been made to order and is in first-rate condition, and must be removed this day and to-morrow.

EUGENE B. FRANKLIN, Auctioneer.

THIS (WEDNESDAY) MORNING, AT 10½ o'clock, at No. 48 Nassau-st., will be sold a lot of French China and glass ware, superior silver-plated ware, consisting of castors, spoons, forks, goblets, cups, table knives, &c.; also, table cutlery; clocks, table ware, parian and stone China pitchers, fancy goods, &c., &c.

TUNIS MORRELL, Auctioneer.

LIGHT WAGONS.—THIS MORNING, AT 10½ o'clock, at No. 19 Nassau-st., two pleasure wagons (new and first-rate article) must be sold. N. B.—Livery stable keepers and private gentlemen will attend this sale in front of salesroom where they are now exhibited.

JOHN F. MONTGOMERY, Auctioneer.

850 CASES BOOTS, SHOES, AND BROGANS, at auction, on THURSDAY, Sept. 23, at 10½ o'clock, at the store of S. N. DAVIS & Co., No. 98 Beekman-st.; fresh seasonable goods, adapted to City and country trade, without reserve for cash.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE OF GOLD, SILVER and plated watches, cameo sets, brooches, ear rings, finger rings, studs, sleeve buttons, &c., on THURSDAY, Sept. 23, at 10½ o'clock, No. 79 Court-st., opposite City Hall, Brooklyn.

SALE OF CABINET MAKERS' STOCK OF SUPERIOR CUSTOM-MADE FURNITURE.—THIS (Wednesday) MORNING, at 10½ o'clock, at Salesroom of FRANKLIN, NICHOLS & CO., No. 48 Nassau-st., consisting, in part, of solid carved oak, rosewood, mahogany and walnut parlor and chamber suites, secretary and library bookcases, etageres, dining-room chairs and tables, sofas, lounges, side, centre, card and fancy tables; area, rocking, spring-seat and fancy chairs, wardrobes, bedsteads, plain and dressing bureaus, washstands, quartette tables, single and in sets, corner stands, bedding, &c. Also, a quantity of cabinet ware, the property of intending buyers to this sale, as the goods offered will be warranted and must be sold. Catalogues on morning of sale. Packing done on the premises at a reasonable charge.

POSITIVE SALE.—VERY DESIRABLE COUNTRY PROPERTY, at auction on WEDNESDAY, October 1, 1858, at 1 o'clock, on the premises, in Port Chester, Westchester County, N. Y. Two very desirable dwelling houses, with large yard and garden attached, containing an assortment of fine fruit trees. Also, about twenty building lots, of dimensions to suit purchasers, the whole situated adjoining the new New-Haven Railroad Depôt. This sale affords an opportunity seldom met with, to persons doing business in New-York and desiring a residence in the country. The property fronting the depôt is one of the best locations for a first-class hotel to be found on the line of the road. The sale is positive to the highest bidder, without reserve. For further information, or a map of the property, apply to A. PIXLEY, on the premises, or to PHINEAS POTTER, No. 100 Pearl-st., N. Y.

MEDICAL.

A new edition, 52d thousand, 250 pages, cloth and marbled cover, price 25 cents, or free by mail on receipt of 30 cents, HUMAN INFIRMITY, OR PHYSIOLOGICAL REMARKS.

This beautifully illustrated and describes the causes and effects of all diseases of a delicate nature; it contains valuable information for the married or those who are contemplating marriage, with observations on the diseases of early youth; also a new treatment of consumption, showing the nature, cause of the disease, and a cure; also, the treatment of the sick chamber, by the Patient's newly-connected Dietetic Table, with powerful remedies also introducing for the present, with marvelous effect, the Russian Vapor Bath, diseases which, unfortunately, the English physicians treat with mercury, to the inevitable destruction of the patient's constitution. Price 25 cents. Sent post-paid to any address.

This invaluable work may be obtained, as well as the Trusses, from Dr. BARROW, No. 187 Prince-st., (few blocks west of Broadway), New-York. To be consulted, as usual, from 11 A. M. till 3 P. M., and from 4 till 8 in the evening.

ROMAN EYE BALSAM.

THIS CELEBRATED REMEDY FOR WEAK AND INFLAMED EYES

was constantly used, with signal success, by a distinguished Oculist during a long professional career; and may be confidently relied upon as the very best salve that can be used. In cases where the eyelids are inflamed, it acts almost like magic in relieving all irritations, and usually effects a complete cure after a few applications. Prepared and sold by A. B. & D. SANDS, Druggists, No. 100 Fulton-st., New-York.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over 1,100 cases, and never failed, except in two cases, both thunder humor. He has now in his possession over 200 certificates of its virtue, all within 30 miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of boils.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth or stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running scrofula.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Last winter, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. So sure as water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after a trial, it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appear to me surprising—first, that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet it has remained so long unknown until I discovered it in 1846; second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day. In April, 1854, I sold a thousand bottles per day.

No change of diet ever necessary—eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children over 8 years, dessert spoonful; children from 5 to 8 years, tea-spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Mr. KENNEDY gives personal attendance in bad cases of Scrofula.

Manufactured by DONALD KENNEDY, No. 139 Warren-st., Roxbury, Mass. Price $1.

NEW AND IMPORTANT DISCOVERY IN THE SCIENCE OF MEDICINE.—TRIESEMAR.—None are genuine unless the engravings of the Seals of the Patent Office of England, the Seals of the Ecole de Pharmacie de Paris, and the Imperial College of Vienna, are fixed upon each wrapper, and around each case.

Sold by Dr. H. A. BARROW, Member of the Imperial College of Vienna, and Royal College of Surgeons, London, who may be personally consulted at his residence, No. 187 Prince-st., (few blocks west of Broadway,) New-York, from 11 o'clock in the morning till 2, and from 4 o'clock till 8 in the evening. (Sundays excepted.)

TRIESEMAR No. 1.—Is the remedy of general and local debility, loss of virile power, premature decay, and all the distressing consequences arising from early abuse, &c.; all physical impediments vanish like magic before its influence, thus rendering its use invaluable to those entering the marriage state.

TRIESEMAR No. 2.—Entirely eradicates all traces of those disorders which copaiva and cubebs have so long been thought an antidote for; to the ruin of the health of a vast number of victims.

TRIESEMAR No. 3.—Is the great European remedy for that class of disorders which, unfortunately, the English physician treats with mercury to the inevitable destruction of the patient's constitution, and which all the Sarsaparilla in the world cannot remove.

TRIESEMAR Nos. 1, 2, and 3, are prepared in the form of a lozenge, and can be carried in a vest pocket or in the waistcoat pocket. Sold in tin cases and divided in separate doses as administered by Valpeau, Lallemand, Rotx, Ricord, &c., &c. Price $3 each, or four cases in one for $9, which saves $3; and in $27 cases whereby there is a saving of $6. To be had wholesale and retail, of Dr. BARROW, No. 187 Prince-st., a few blocks west of Broadway, New-York.

Special arrangements having been made with the various Expresses, the nine-dollar cases of the Triesmar, and the larger sizes, will be forwarded by Dr. Barrow, carriage paid, immediately on receiving a remittance, to any part of the world, securely sealed, and entirely out of the observation of the writer, thus securing to the public genuine European preparations, and effectually protecting them from spurious and pernicious imitations. The three-dollar cases sent as usual, but not free of carriage.

Consultation and advice free from 11 A. M. till 2 P. M., and from 4 till 8.

☞ Mr. BARROW, 187 Prince-st., (few blocks west of Broadway,) New-York.

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS.—DR. WATSON has, for a long series of years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated not a few, but many thousand patients, without the slightest failure. The medicines are mild, and do not keep the patient from business, or expose him to detection. An immediate application should always be made; but if the disease has lain concealed in the system, or has spread by injudicious treatment, the undersigned knows himself especially competent to effect a speedy and permanent cure, without mercury and allocation. Dr. WATSON is in constant attendance, from 7 in the morning until 9 at night, at his consulting rooms and residence, No. 55 Walker-st., a few doors west of Broadway. W. WATSON, M. D.,

Formerly Surgeon to the Lock Hospital.

DR. LARMONT'S PARIS AND LONDON MEDICAL ADVISER AND MARRIAGE GUIDE—20th edition, 400 pages, 125 electrotype pictures, cloth, $1 and four stamps. Mailed free. Among its contents is the anatomy of the sexual organs of the male and female, all the sexual diseases, and the latest and most approved treatment in production; quacks, their tricks and deceptions; the author's unequaled Paris and London treatment of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Syphilis, Primary and Constitutional, Emissions, Impotency, &c. Office—No. 69 Mercer-st., corner Spring, opposite St. Nicholas Hotel. Hours—9 A. M. to 9 evening. Sundays, to 1 P. M. His book is also sold at No. 323 Broadway. We commend Dr. LARMONT to the afflicted.—Courrier des Etats Unis, Etoile Volante, Democrat, Day Book, &c.

$1,000 FORFEITED AND NO CHARGE UNLESS CURED.—Dr. HUNTER cures when the treatment of other physicians and all other remedies fail. His Red Drop is your only reliance for a thorough cure in certain diseases. No. 5 Division-st., the only place now so well known for the very extraordinary cures it has performed, without diet or hindrance from business, when all other remedies only drive the disease in the blood. $1 only. This secures the patient from secondary attacks, and is the only remedy on earth that does it. Try all others and use. Observe the number, and beware of a handbill stating that Dr. Hunter has removed—it is a villainous humbug.

RICORD'S PRACTICE.—DR. C. D. HAMMOND, Consulting and Operative Surgeon, formerly a pupil with RICORD, of Paris, and with the celebrated Surgeon of this City, Drs. Carnochan and Mott, may be consulted, confidentially, for the treatment and cure of disease, at his conveniently located rooms, No. 516 Broadway, opposite the St. Nicholas Hotel. His extended observations in the famous Hospital du Midi, in Paris, under RICORD himself, (who is unquestionably the first living surgeon in determinate of the venereal system,) together with his many efficient remedies, render failure impossible. Also, treatment by letter, and the remedies, securely sealed, forwarded. Consultations in English or French. C. D. HAMMOND, M. D.

DR. WATSON'S NEW WORK.—"THE CAUSE AND CURE."—A complete practical treatise on spermatorrhœa and premature exhaustion, with local debility, induced by early indiscretion, excess or other causes, in which the nature and effects of this insidious malady, together with the treatment, are fully explained; illustrated by numerous anatomical plates and drawings, with a supplement on public urinary diseases. Price $1. To be obtained of the author, who may be consulted, confidentially, at No. 55 Walker-st., a few doors west of Broadway.

DR. DOW'S NEW SYSTEM OF MEDICINE TO THE MARRIED AND SINGLE OF BOTH SEXES.—Information and advice gratuitously, and of most importance to males and females in health, especially those arising from sexual debility, will be sent on the receipt of eight stamps. Address Dr. DEYTEMUS DOW, New-York.

MURRAY'S FLUID MAGNESIA.—PREPARED only by the chemist, JAMES MURRAY, for sale by SCHIEFFELIN BROTHERS & CO., Wholesale Druggists, No. 170 William-st., cor. Beekman-st., New-York.

MARK THE FACTS.

GURNEY'S PHOTOGRAPHIC PALACE, No. 840 Broadway, is the most extensive establishment in the United States.

GURNEY was the first to introduce the Art of Photography in this City.

GURNEY has recently made important alterations and improvements in his establishment.

GURNEY has now greater facilities for producing fine work in every branch than has heretofore been in this country.

GURNEY has still in his employ the best of his old artists.

GURNEY has recently added to the above a talented corps of American, French, and German artists.

GURNEY's colored Photographs of all sizes need only to be seen to be appreciated; they speak for themselves.

GURNEY's plain, uncolored Photographs were never equaled; so say Artists and the best judges.

GURNEY's Daguerreotypes are universally pronounced superior productions.

GURNEY has received more testimonials for his skill than any other artist in the profession.

GURNEY received the only medal for Photographic productions, at the late Paris exhibition—consequently GURNEY stands at the head of the world in the Photographic Art.

GURNEY has not removed any branch of his business to any part of the City.

GURNEY has no connection with any other establishment in any other part of the City.

GURNEY attends personally to his patrons and friends and has for the last sixteen years.

GURNEY will be most happy to continue that attention, and will still endeavor to please all who may give him a visit at his Photographic Palace of Art, No. 840 Broadway, corner Leonard-street, New-York.

FACTS
THAT NEED NO MASKING.
Progression.
From Humphrey's Photographic Journal of Sept. 1856.

We do not approve of the plan of puffing the members of the Photographic profession by way of personals. This may do very well when one is trying to bring his works into favor with such as are susceptible to flattery, and measure out their support according to the amount of editorial ink used as bait. We feel confident that those who best know will agree with us that it is no puffing, when we can say with so much truth, that the Photographic Art this day owes, in no small degree, its position in this country to Mr. C. D. FREDRICKS, a gentleman who was the first to introduce the Photographic process upon an extensive scale in America. Previous to his establishing himself here, he visited Europe, and, with an enterprise worthy of imitation, he was not satisfied with first securing what knowledge he could himself gain, but also engaged the services of several of the most eminent Parisian Artists. He then, in connection with Mr. GURNEY, opened an establishment on a plan unequaled in the world.

After successfully following his profession, in connection with Mr. G., for some time, he has opened a "Temple of Art" in this City, under his own proprietorship and supervision. We have honestly and candidly presented the foregoing, feeling that it is justly due to a fellow-laborer.

FACTS WHICH ARE KNOWN.—PHOTOGRAPHS, DAGUERREOTYPES, AMBROTYPES, &c.—The undersigned having removed the Photographic department and his Parisian artists from his old place of business, No. 340 Broadway, to his new and magnificent establishment, No. 585 Broadway, would call the attention of the public to the fact that his Galleries, and the pictures made in them, are superior to anything before exhibited. Those desiring Photographs, Daguerreotypes, or Ambrotypes, executed by artists of refined taste, would do well to call and judge for themselves. Reception rooms on the first floor, and are open from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M. CHARLES D. FREDRICKS,

LONG ISLAND.

The Republicans all Alive in Queens County.

The nomination of Hon. JNO. A. KING for Governor seems to have aroused a perfect enthusiasm among his own townsmen, as well as throughout the county. As expressed in one of their resolutions, though a prophet may not be honored among his own people, an honest, capable and reliable politician may be. A ratification meeting was held in Flushing on Monday evening, which called out a large gathering of the citizens of that village, of all parties, and delegations were in attendance from Jamaica, Stratton-port and elsewhere. Very spirited and telling speeches were made by Hon. JOSEPH HOXIE and CHAS. A. DANA, Esq., not only in behalf of the gubernatorial nominee, but also upon the questions or question at issue in the Presidential campaign. Mr. HOXIE said he had years since retired from the stump, resolved never to take it again, but the importance of the present campaign, when not only the freedom of a Territory, but the freedom of the whole country was at stake, had compelled him to come forth, and he promised to "labor six days and six nights in a week, and pray all day Sunday, for the success of Free Soil, Free Speech, Free Press, Free Men, all of which would be promoted by electing JOHN C. FREMONT to the Presidency." For an hour and a half Mr. HOXIE kept the audience in the closest attention by his fund of argument, interspersed with frequent wit and humor.

Mr. DANA presented among other things the personal interest that should incite us to vote in favor of free territory. Free men will not go into territory with slaves. If Kansas be surrendered to Slavery we are entirely shut out. The South takes the whole. In reference to FILLMORE, at no time has he expressed himself outright in favor of Freedom. FILLMORE had done this. Mr. FILLMORE had in his great political history voted with the South. Witness his cooperation with FOOT in extracting those men nominated for office when he was Vice-President, who were not "sound on the Slavery question." At the recent Convention of his friends at Syracuse, one of their own men desired to introduce resolutions which would go to show that the American party and their nominee were not wholly Pro-Slavery and did not indorse the BROOKS'S and men of that character, the Kansas outrages, &c. This was done to save the party itself, but the proposer of the resolution had himself been expelled from his council for merely making an effort to save his party from utter defeat. Mr. D. urged that a choice was to be made in the coming election for anything but the most open and decided measures. The whole South are united. Shall we divide among ourselves? Let us first have a free America to be governed, and then we shall talk about who shall rule it.

During the speaking Mr. KING, the nominee, came into the meeting, by special and urgent invitation, accompanied by the Jamaica Delegation. As he entered the room a banner was suddenly elevated before him:

WELCOME TO LONG ISLAND'S FAVORITE SON.

Loud and long-continued cheering followed, which seemed to be joined in with a hearty good-will by men of all parties present. The Flushing Fremont Glee Club enlivened the exercises with excellent singing. The audience, though closely packed, and standing, remained until midnight, with unabated interest.

The Flushing Republican Club, though feeble at first, has daily grown in numbers, vigor, and efficiency, and is doing good service in the cause.

Fremont Meeting.

The Sixth Ward Republican Club, of Brooklyn, held their regular weekly sitting last evening. As usual, the large church in which they hold their meeting was well filled, and interesting addresses were made by J. M. VAN COTT, Esq., and others.

Consecration of the Church of the Holy Trinity Brooklyn.

The Church of the Holy Trinity, situated at the corner of Montague and Clinton-streets, Brooklyn, was consecrated yesterday. Architecture and decoration combined, this is one of the most splendid Episcopal churches in the country. It has a history of its own, also, which is quite interesting. It was commenced by a private individual, who failed to finish it, and about eighteen months ago there was danger that it would pass out of the hands of Episcopalians, and be sold to the Roman Catholics. Its congregation took counsel. They determined that their beloved edifice should be preserved for Protestant worship. They subscribed, or made themselves responsible for, the large sum of $95,000, which it was necessary to raise, in order to prevent the mortgage on the building from being foreclosed. Thus, by vigorous exertion, they preserved for themselves a sanctuary which may rank with the best Protestant churches of the Old World.

It is now about ten years since the church of the Holy Trinity was opened for public worship, and yet it was not till yesterday that the official consecration of the edifice took place. The building was crowded to its utmost capacity. Besides the principal Episcopal clergy of New-York and Brooklyn, Bishop POTTER of New-York, Bishop CLARKE of Rhode Island, Bishop WHITTINGHAM of Illinois, and Bishop HOPKINS of Vermont, were present. The usual services of the Episcopal Church were performed, various clergymen participating in the duties, to which was added the ritual for the consecration of churches appointed by the Episcopal Church, which was principally read by Bishop POTTER. A very eloquent sermon was preached by Bishop CLARKE, who took for his text the 15th verse of the 5th chapter of Ezra, "Let the house of God be builded in this place." The edifices raised for the worship of the Deity in different nations, he said, are indicative by the degree of civilization which they have reached. There were the African mud temples, and the Chinese pagodas, and the gloomy structures of India—each indicating the civilization of the people who built and worshiped in them. There was the lofty dome of the Mohammedan mosque, which proclaimed, in the religion taught beneath it, a higher civilization and a purer faith than any of the foregoing, but which was one which left unsolved the great problem of human existence, and told the world of no Saviour. Even the Christian religion exhibits its different types in its edifices. The Roman Catholic Church, in its decorations and its paintings, was symbolical of the mingled truth and falsehood which characterized its doctrines. Sometimes to the other extremes, we find the bold and rigid theology of CALVIN setting aside the beauty of holiness as inconsistent with holiness itself. It is proper that the House of God should represent the best phase and the greatest wealth of the people. If the culture of a nation is to be expressed at all in Architecture, if our dwelling houses are to give evidence of our taste and cultivation, why not also the temples of God? Shall we have marble banks and hemlock churches? Though it is reasonably said that we must have cheap churches to reach the hearts of the people, it is not necessary that costly churches should be costly to the worshipers. It is objected that the poor suffer hunger and cold and nakedness while the wealth of the rich is expended on their buildings, but does not the erection of these edifices give employment to the poor, and are they any poorer because the shadows of the church spire marks the passage of the sun over their lowly roofs? The soul is educated through other avenues besides that of hearing. It is of the highest importance that nothing mean, vulgar, or sordid should be associated with the worship of God.

The reverend gentleman proceeded to discourse at length on the ministry. His sermon was most eloquent and powerful.

The seats in the South gallery, capable of holding 300 persons, are henceforth to be free. We congratulate our Episcopalian friends in the success of their efforts to preserve this fine building to Heretics. To their pastor, Rev. Dr. Lewis, the highest praise for his activity and perseverance to this end, must be justly lavished.

Fire in Brooklyn Caused by the Explosion of a Fluid Lamp.

At 9 o'clock last evening a fluid lamp exploded in the grocery store of Gerrian Meyer, No. 12 Bleecker-street, near Fulton, which soon set the building on fire, and before the flames could be stayed the inside of the building was nearly burned out. Mr. MEYER lost by stock in about $300. Not insured.

The building was owned by Mr. HIRAM COX, who occupied the upper floors of it as a dwelling. He lost by fire and water to the extent of $200, which was not insured. Mr. COX was absent at the time, and was in his bed, and soon after the fire broke out Officer Gorse of the Fifth Ward Police, and Officer Adamson Gaines of the First Ward, by great exertion, succeeded in rousing the inmates of the building, just as the fire had reached his room.

State Convention of Colored Citizens.

A body of Delegates representing the colored citizens of the State, met yesterday morning in Convention in Washington-hall, Syracuse, N. Y. The Monday they succeeded in perfecting an organization by electing the following as permanent officers:

President—WM. RICE, of Troy.

Vice Presidents—Stephen Myers, Albany; S. W. B. Smith and James Scott, New-York City; S. S. C. Warrick and Freeman Marrows, Brooklyn.

Secretaries—George LeVere and James Still, New-York; D. C. Yarrick and F. W. Ray, Brooklyn.

Messrs. RICE and MYERS addressed the Convention.

The afternoon and evening sessions were occupied in the discussion of resolutions, reported by a Committee, recommending the formation of Suffrage Associations throughout the State, auxiliary to the State Association, and that measures be taken to urge their claims of equal rights before the next Legislature.

TUESDAY, Sept. 23.—The Convention met this morning, when the resolutions under discussion were adopted.

Rev. HENRY H. GARNET addressed the Convention, advising his colored brethren not to cease in their labors until they had all of their rights. He estimated the colored vote at 6,000, a large proportion of which is in New-York and Brooklyn. He thought they had as good a right at least to enjoy the privilege of voting as foreigners; the oppressed Irishmen, once naturalized, are the loudest shouters for "Buck and Breck" and Slavery extension, and are the bitterest foes of the negro. Of all things he hated to see a black Democrat. His remarks throughout were well received.

A Committee reported the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That, inasmuch as the Republican Party of this country presents a platform more consistent with the principles of liberty and justice than that of any other party, we, therefore pledge ourselves to use our best endeavors to secure the success of the candidates nominated by that party, namely, FREMONT and DAYTON, for President and Vice-President, and KING and SELDEN for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor.

Resolved, That we further recommend that the various Suffrage Associations in different parts of the State appoint Committees to interrogate candidates for office in their respective localities.

☞ The Queen's County Agricultural Fair is to open Thursday, Sept. 25, at Hempstead, Long Island. JOHN A. KING, the Republicans' popular candidate for Governor, is the Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements.

Brooklyn Board of Health.

The meetings of this Board are still held every morning, but there has been no case of infectious or contagious disease reported for several days, and no business of importance was transacted yesterday. Several shipowners applied for permission to discharge cargoes at different points, but none of them having clear bills of health from the Quarantine officer, the applications were denied.

John M. Butler against Wm. Shaw and James Irving.

This case, which has been on trial in the Circuit Court, Brooklyn, before Judge BROWN, for several days, was concluded yesterday morning, the jury rendering a verdict against each of the defendants in the sum of $800. BUTLER was assaulted and beaten by defendants some two years ago at the Union Race Course.

Sixteenth Ward, Brooklyn.

This Ward has been divided into three Election Districts, as follows:

First District.—Commencing at the northeast corner of Division-avenue and Lorimer-street, and bounded by Lorimer, Wyckoff, South Second, Ninth streets, to the line of the Sixteenth and Nineteenth Wards, thence through the centre of Division-avenue to the place of beginning.

Second District.—That portion of said Ward lying north of Johnson-street is to be known as the Second District.

Third District.—All south of Johnson-street.

Suicide.

GEORGE NIEMAN, a German, residing at Green Point, Brooklyn, committed suicide Monday night by taking a dose of arsenic. Domestic troubles is the alleged cause for the rash act.

Caution to Hackmen.

A hackman, named THOMAS MCLEAN, was brought before Mayor HALL in Brooklyn, yesterday, by the Hack Inspector, on a charge of using insulting language to a lady. He was fined $10.

☞ Circuit Court Calendar, Brooklyn, for this day.—Nos. 60, 61, 63, 70, 74, 77, 77½, 82, 84, 85, 87 to 96.

The Company on a Capital Account in shares and debt of $22,770,517, all told, appear from the above to own their main line, its equipments and a large body of real estate, costing together $25,012,526, and about three millions other assets, chiefly procurative, derived from the profits of the Road during the suspension of its common dividends. These dividends were renewed in April last, first at the rate of 6 ¥ cent. a year, to be raised hereafter as the progress of the traffic and the finances of the Company may seem to justify. The $800,000 a year to the Sinking Fund is a special provision, if we mistake not, for the leases of the Northwestern Virginia Company, for which the Baltimore and Ohio are made ultimately responsible in case of failure of the Branch Company. The common stock of the Baltimore and Ohio is owned

The annual general meeting of the Stockholders of the New-York and Erie Railroad will be held on the second Tuesday in October. The principal object will be the election of Directors to serve the ensuing year. It is possible the occasion will be embraced by the executive officers to say something of the results of the year's business on the Road, and the prospect of an early resumption of dividends upon their Stock, which have now been suspended over two years. It is already understood, in view of the nine months' exhibit of the current Railroad year, and the large traffic since it was laid before the Stockholders in July, August and September, that the net income to the Stock will amount to about $1,950,000, or something over $400,000 added for the last quarter to the $818,000 made up to July 1. This added to the net income of last year, $[illegible], will make $2,[illegible], or over 20 ¥ cent., to which, in some shape, the Stockholders will be entitled. The specific appropriations will have been:

To sinking fund, 1855	$800,000
To sinking fund, 1856	800,000	$[illegible]
To new construction, 1855	[illegible]

Belonging to Dividend Fund proper		$[illegible]
Applied to Floating Debt, 1855		[illegible]
Balance to answer in new account		[illegible]
Total		[illegible]

It will be for the Stockholders, under the change of the case, to determine at their October meeting whether the Road shall be continued in the Central Ohio way, or be made a direct line to the Ohio River, by the Erie Railroad, or be made a branch of the Erie Railroad, or be made a branch of the Erie Railroad, or be made a branch of
